1972 HEIGHTS

Volume 51

Arlington High School

Arlington Heights, Illinois

It is beyond a doubt that everyone should have time for some special delight,

if only five minutes

to seek out a lovely flower or cloud

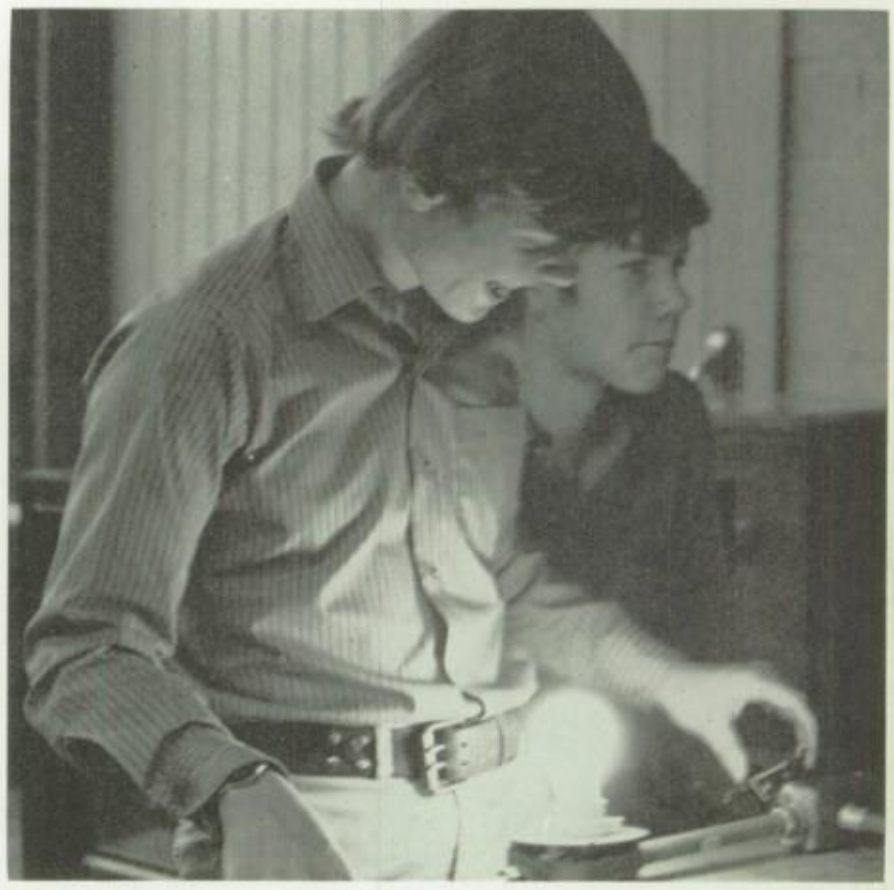
or a star,

or learn a verse



or brighten

another's dull task.

What is the use of such terrible

tire themselves

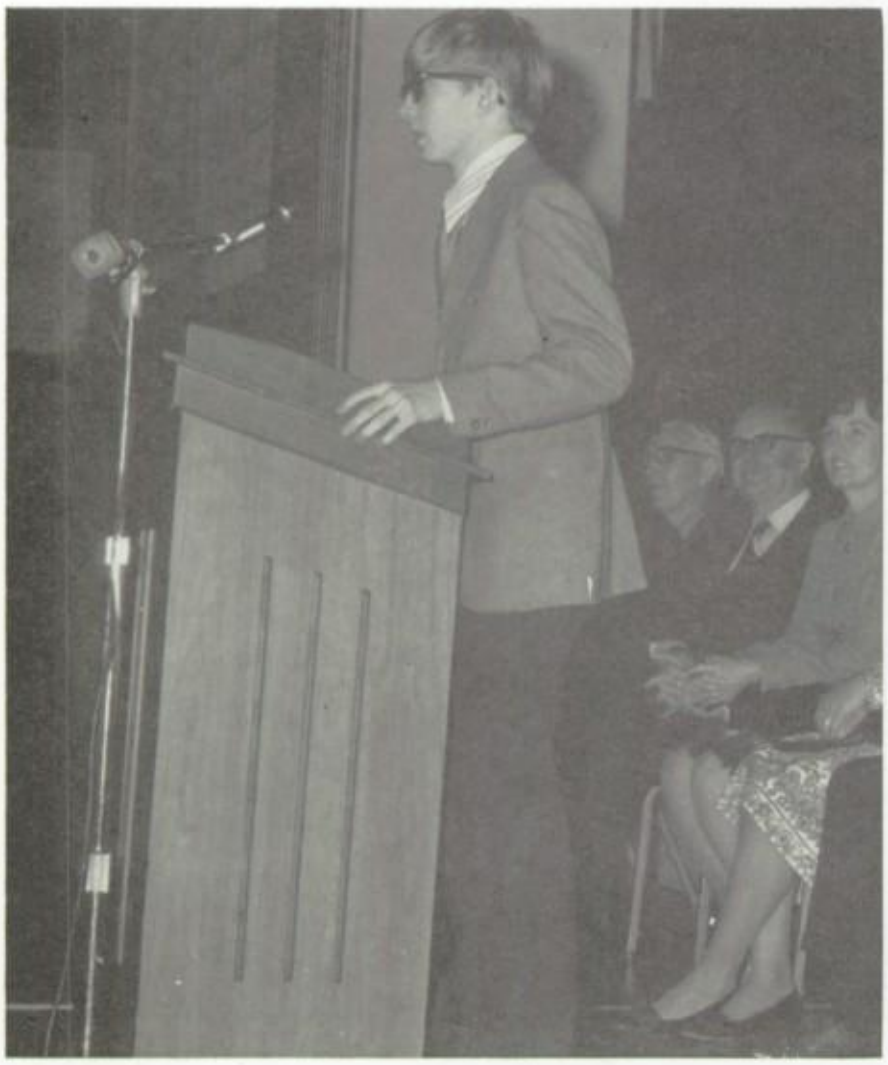
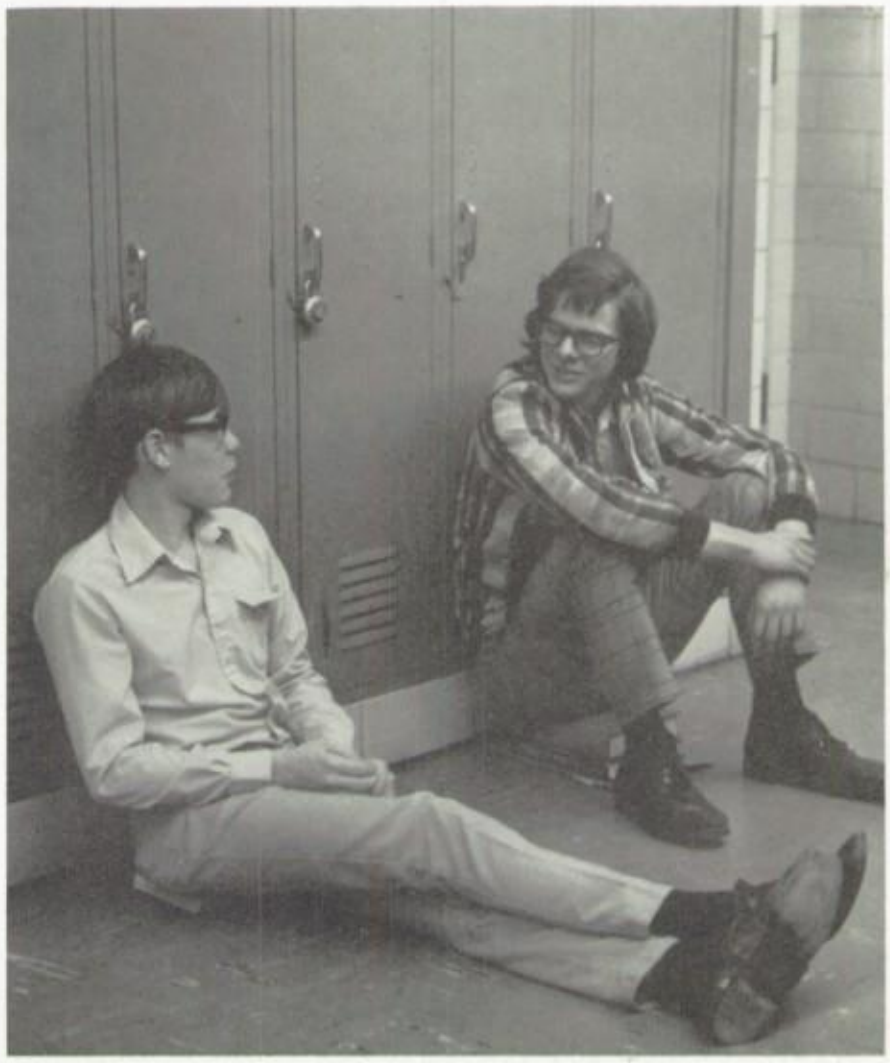
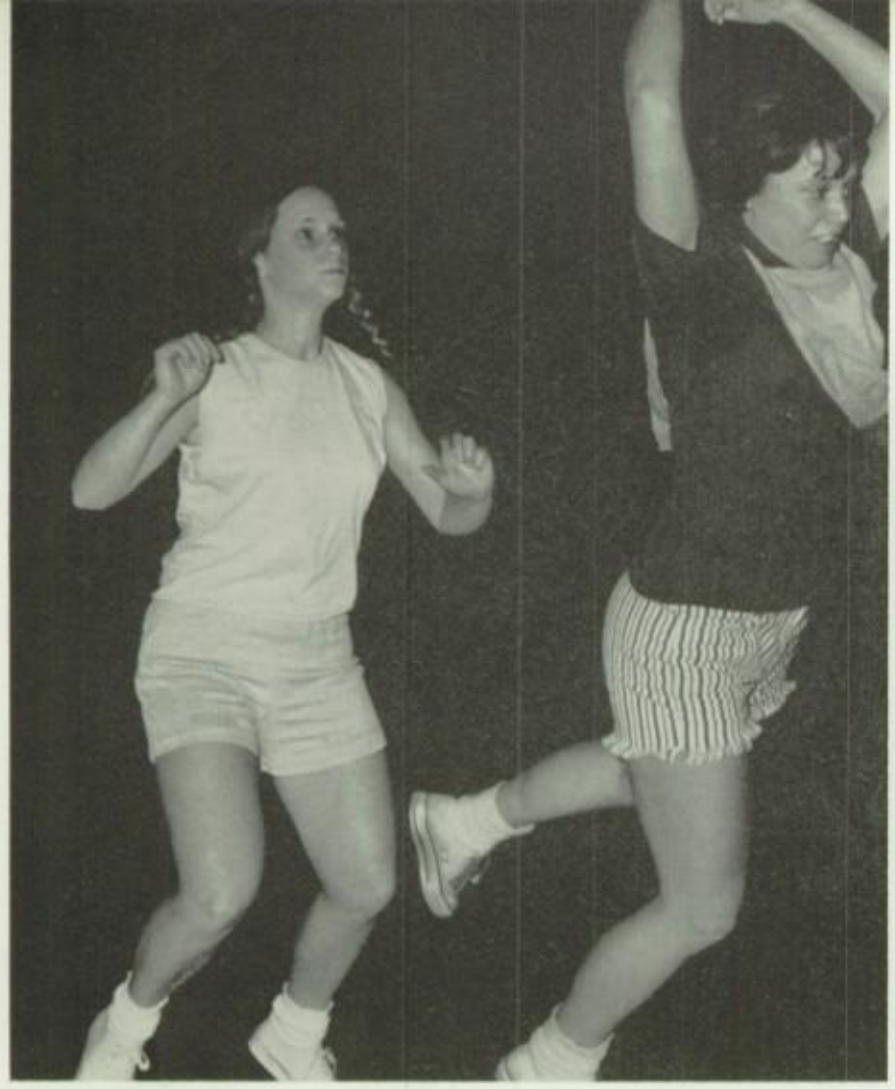
if they always



exchange of smiles



postpone their



with

Beauty

to cling to

and relations?

On People

And Life

Thoughts

I used to welcome the first signs of spring,

the melting snow and warmer sun,

the pale morning light slanting earlier in my window

But now, they tell me of the passing time, of the slow accelereration toward summer's heat,

the maddened rush into brilliant fall, until

Winter calms the earth again.

And I would hold back the flow of the seasons, lengthen, somehow, this precious winter.

For I must leave you in June!

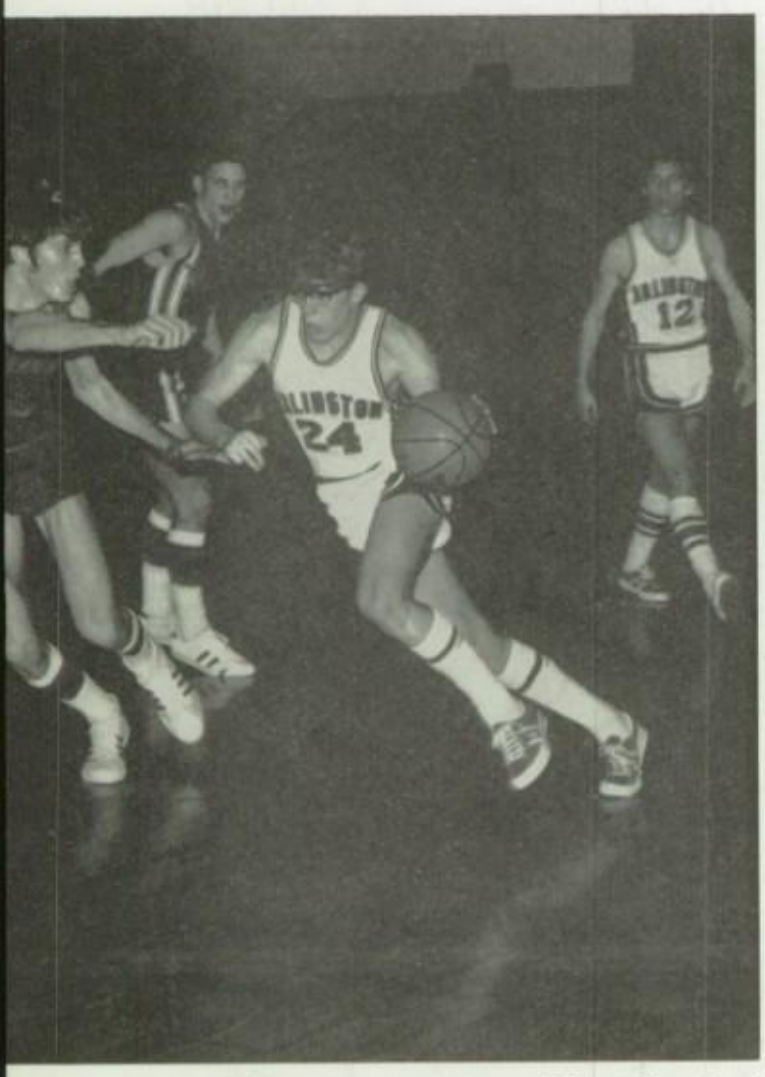
Seniors Strive Toward Future Accomplishments



Arlington's supercager Mike Cleveland avoids a Wheeling Wildcat who is hot on his trail, as a teammate offers his help.

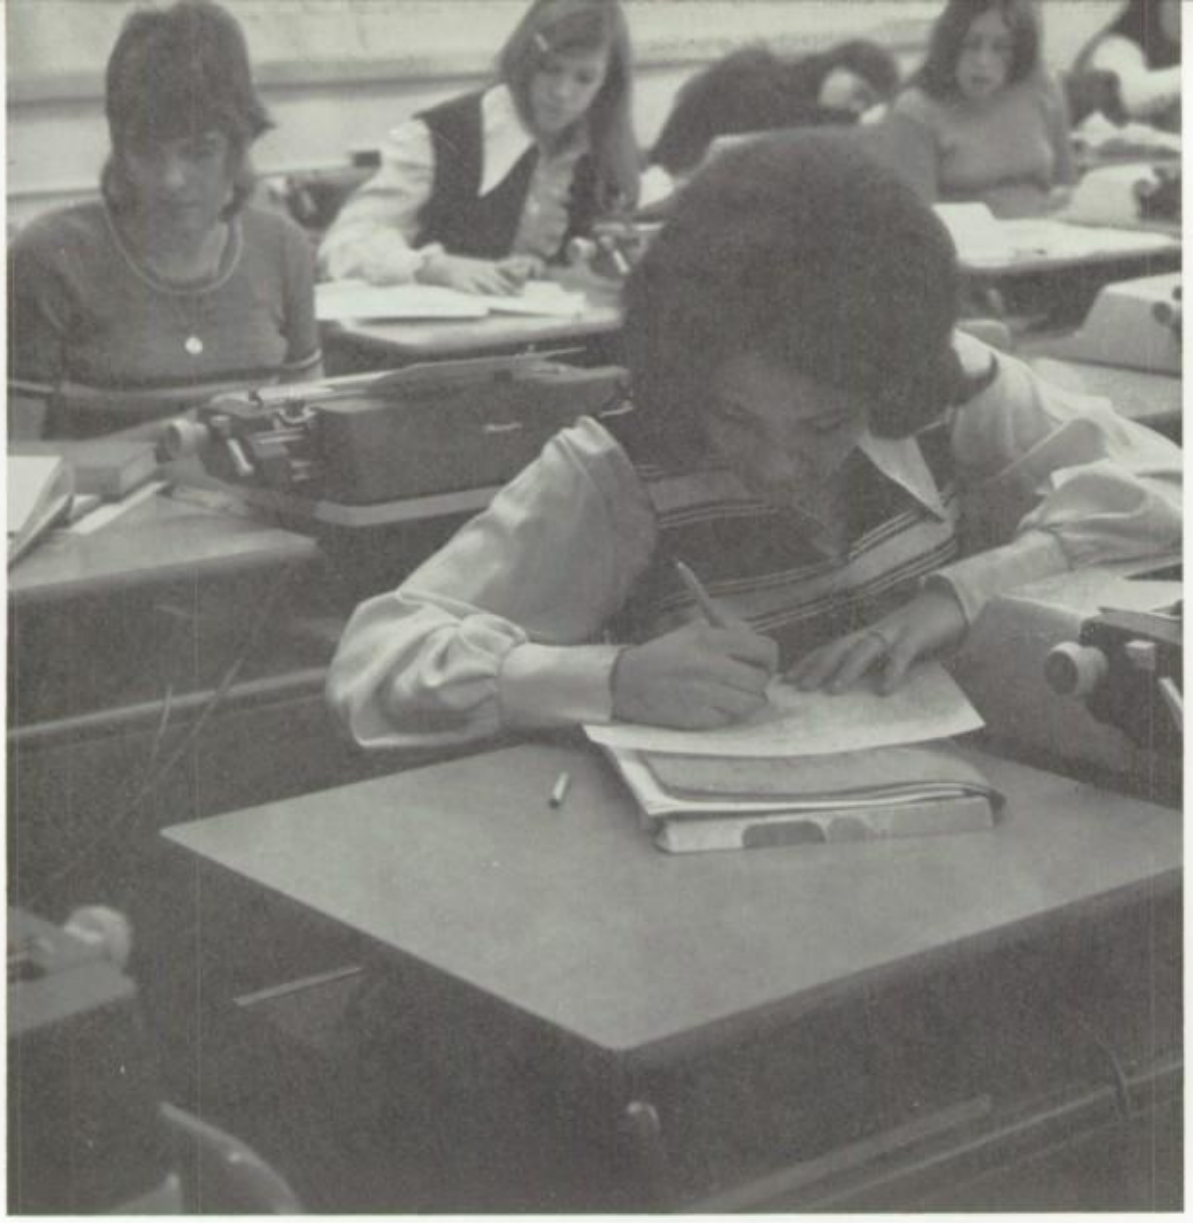
Dancing at the prom, with that far away look is senior Christine Losos and her escort for the festive evening occasion.

With eager anticipation towards the future, the class of '72 left its mark at Arlington. For some the year was full of college preparations and making the big decision of where to spend the next four years of their lives. Other students had a more relaxing year planning a big celebration for the termination of their schooling.

The events of the year had a special meaning for the Seniors. During the fall there were all the football games and of course Homecoming with the senior float, the election of a king and queen, and the dance.

The senior class, with the aid of the class board officers Jon Deevy, Barb Pamp, Patti Miller and Mel Opela, presented the highlight of the winter festivities: the Christmas Ball. The joy and happiness of the Christmas season was captured in the Grace gym.

Spring brought to mind thoughts of prom, graduation, and freedom at last. The senior status along with its memories were left behind.

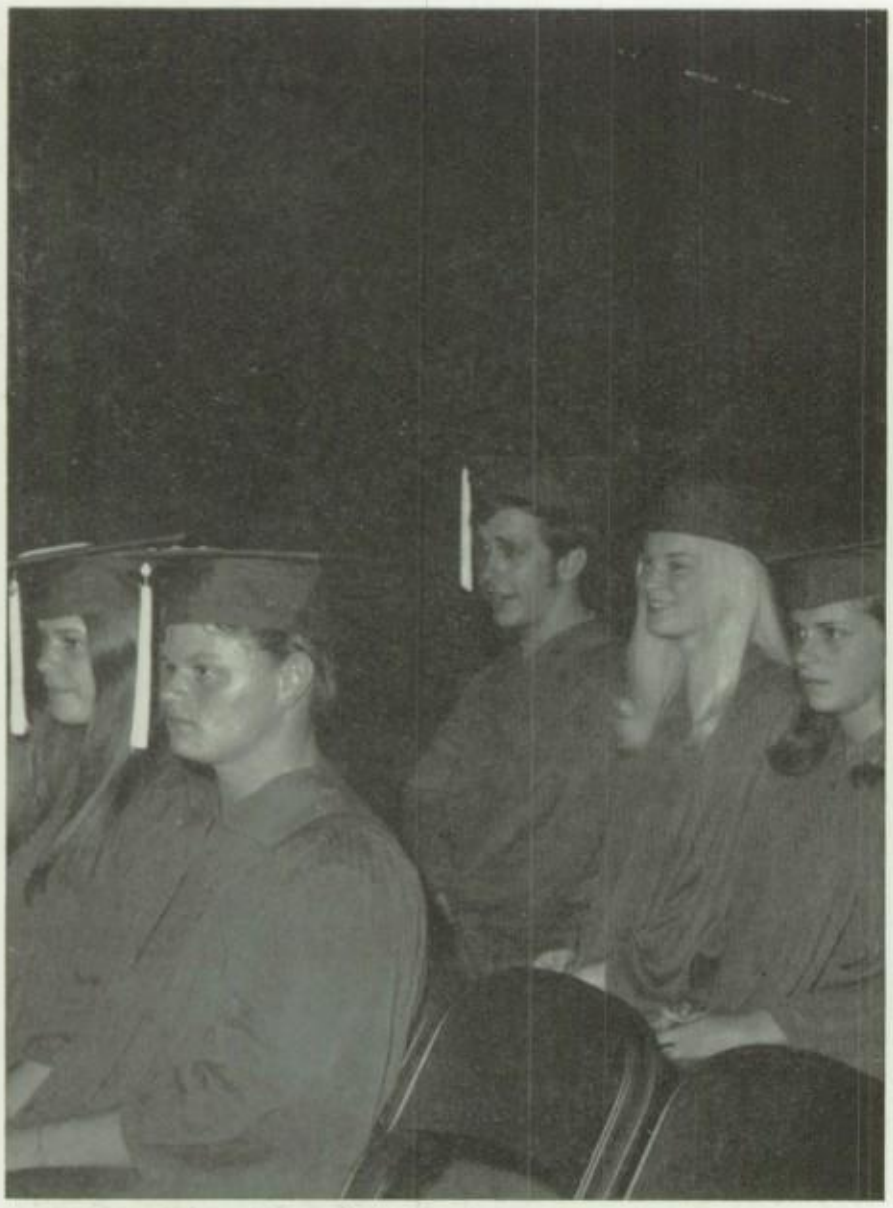


Olga Frometa and Kim Ward, with the senior typing class (above) work at their typewriters; cager Ken Peters (below) eludes an oncoming Wheeling opponent as Bob Bunn awaits chance for the ball.

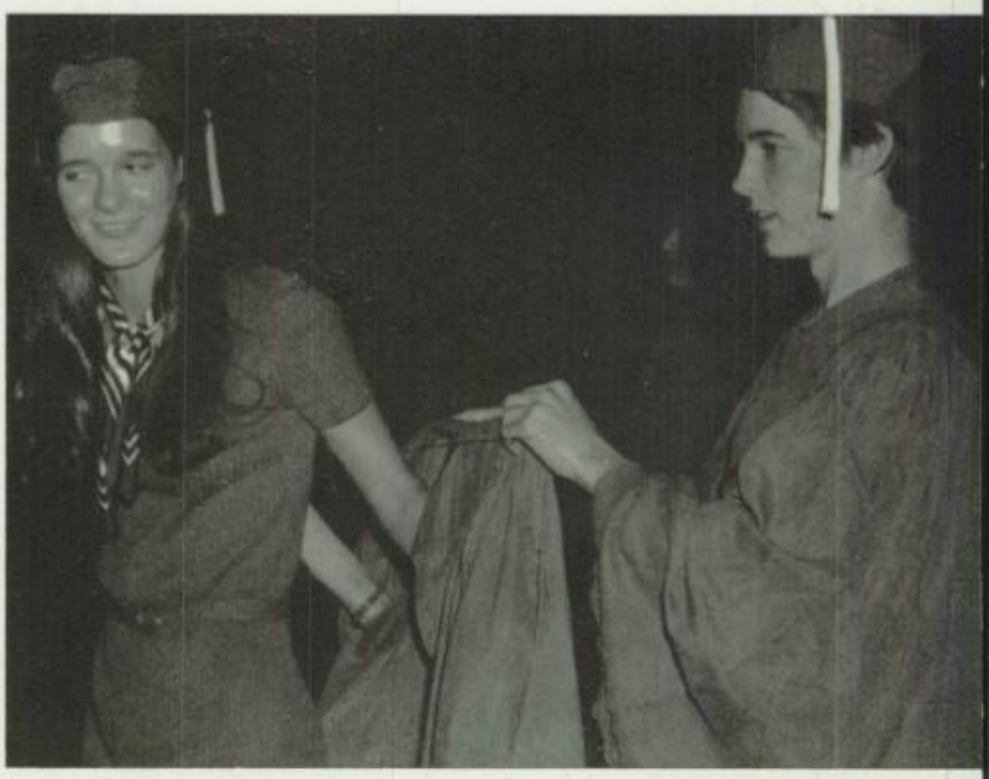
Varsity and JV cheerleaders (below) lead crowd in school fight song while Joanne Dougherty and Carol Anderson in art class, perfect their masterpieces.

Lisa Maas and escort Rick Stump take a breather for some tasty punch and Christmas cookies. The night of the ball passes by quickly but the memories last forever.

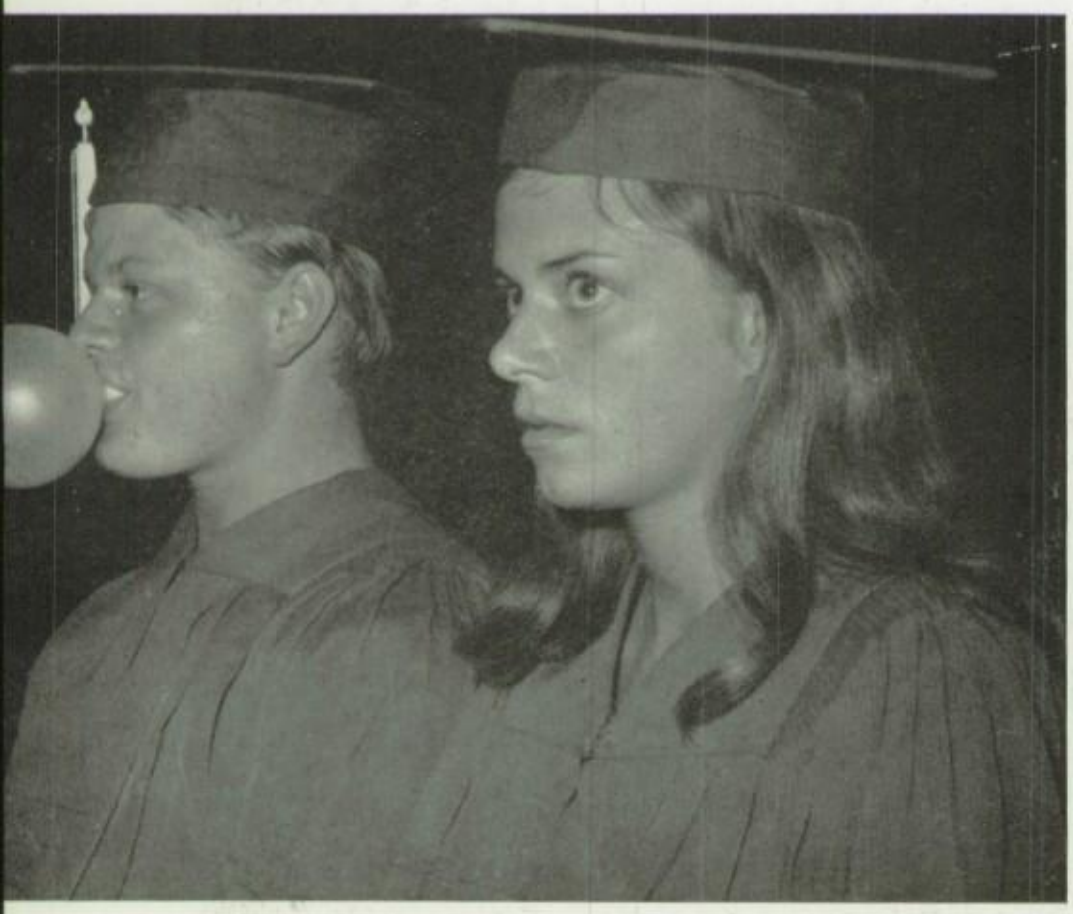
Seniors Look Back On Their Best Year Ever



Members of the '72 Senior Class listen intently to the speeches that are part of ceremony of graduation from Arlington High.

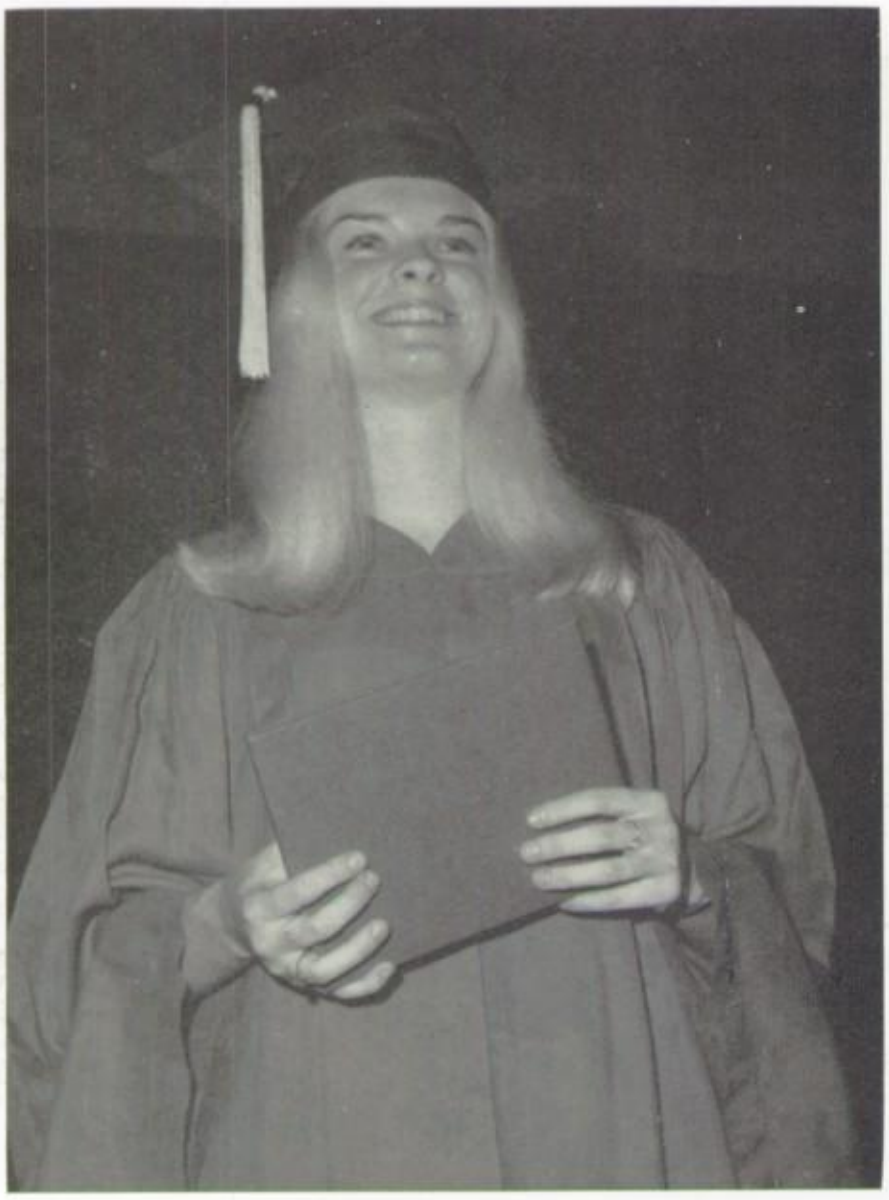


Tom Nicholson, playing the role of the perfect gentleman, helps Senior Mary Wirka into her gown on night of commencement.

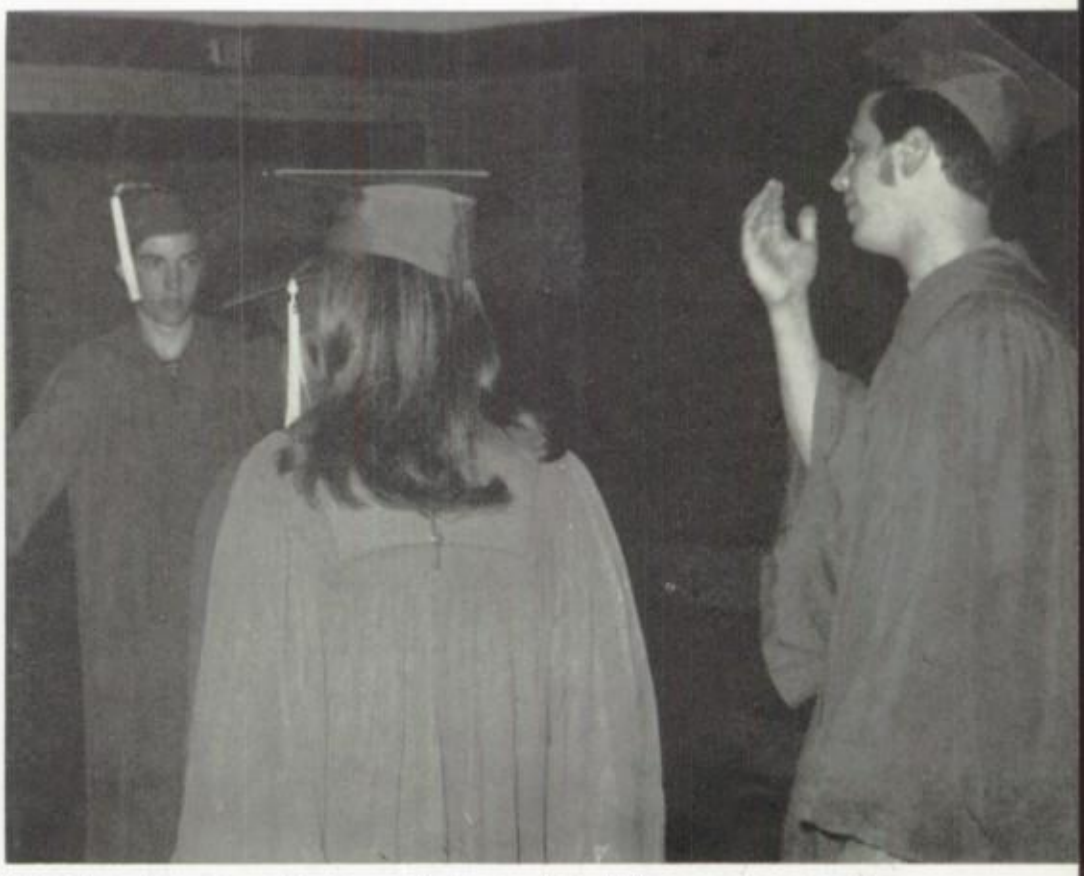


Debbie Tonnesen thinks to herself, "Wouldn't that be hilarious if that bubble would burst all over his face," as Frank Constantino has idea to make this, his last AHS bubble, the best one yet.

Senior Steve Jurco receives a hearty handshake from Dr. Henry J. Hermanowicz, Dean of the College of Education, after Steve received an Honor Pin for seven semesters of Honor Roll work.



Like most seniors, Angie Berry is happy to have finally received her diploma and is looking forward to leaving Arlington to embark on a new phase of life that will bring new experiences.



Valedictorian Steve Jurco explains to his fellow graduates, "It was a snap to get straight A's!" Tom Nicholson looks bewildered.

"I've kicked the school habit and joined the graduation generation!" exclaims senior Tom Nicholson (left), as Mark Chidley (right) also a senior, is off for rat race in the coming years.

Facing the moment the Seniors have been waiting for, for four long years, the graduating class of 1972 receives diplomas.

It is beyond a doubt that everyone should have time for some special delight,

Coronation Is Crowning Touch To Homecoming

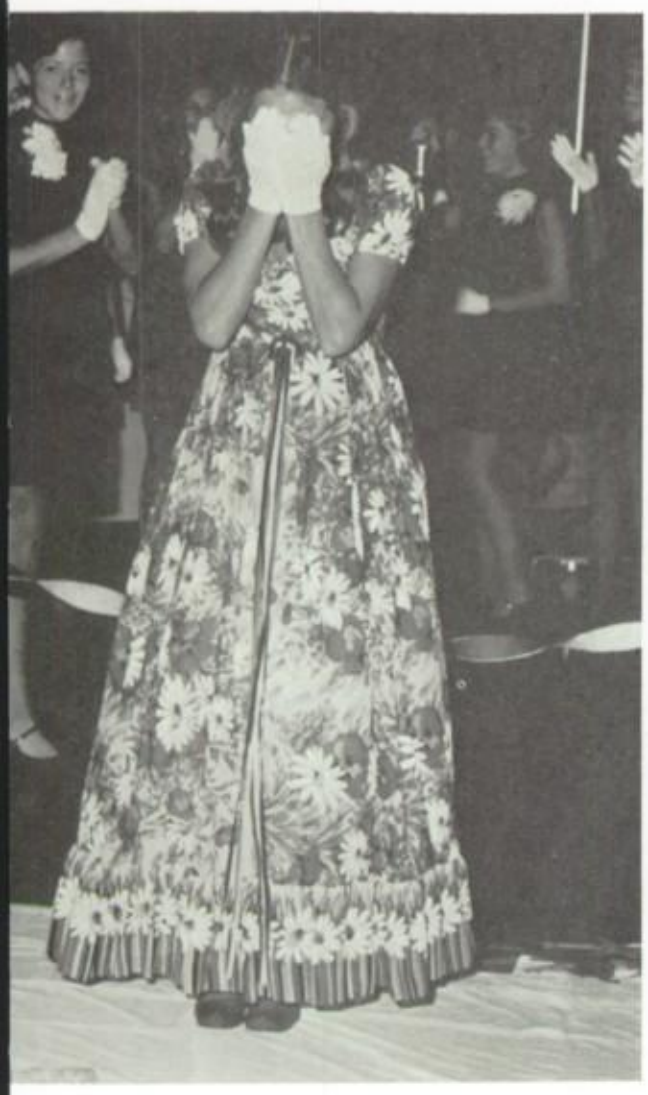
The theme for this year's Orchesis float, expressed the thoughts of all Cardinals, with "Hersey Melts In Our Hand". The game would prove the one who would melt.

Floats, mums, and gorgeous Indian Summer weather were among the things of this year's celebration of Homecoming, "Imagination '71."

The week came to a climax with the coronation of the new Queen and King, Elizabeth Oestmann and Kenneth Peters. The rest of the court consisted of Pam Burkhardt, Jim Heffernan, Ginny Catlin, Pete Anderson, Karen Howe, Jeff Baker, Carol Jernberg, John Deevy; the pages were freshmen Meg Draut and Barry Brinn. After the coronation, the parade proceeded through beautiful downtown Arlington Heights, for a traditional Homecoming Parade. First place was awarded to "A" Club, for their float "Mush the Huskies"; second place went to "Hersey, Six Feet Under" by Auto Club; and last but not least, the Sophomore class constructed a winning float for the second consecutive year, naming it "Cards Make Hersey A Chocolate Mess."

A victory over Hersey, 14-12, made the weekend a great success.



Beth Oestmann can hardly believe that she has been chosen Arlington's 1971 Homecoming Queen. The court: (right) Carol Jernberg, Ginny Catlin, Karen Howe, and Pam Burkhardt look on while Queen Beth Oestmann receives her robe and crown.

Homecoming – A Highlight Of The School Year

Fervently praying that the flowers won't slip out of the railing as the royal couple go up the steps, Christie and Sue lend their fingers to the Coronation Committee.

Megan Draut and Barry Brinn, the pages for Homecoming, impatiently wait for the parade to get going.

Court Anticipates the Excitement of a Parade

Ginny Catlin, escorted by Jon Deevy, displays a happiness that comes only from being on the Homecoming Court; while Pam Burkhardt (right) smiles at fellow Arlington students as Jim Heffernan is concentrating on the approaching Coronation Ceremony.

What is the pit of football? It is 7 yards long and 3 yards wide. The toughest and roughest part of the game is played here in the interior of the line of ball players.

Quarterback Terry Ormsbee is trying to avoid many Hersey tacklers while courageously trying to gain important yards.

Card's Triumph Begins Weekend of Celebration

Excitement and a Hectic Week=Homecoming

"F" Club, established this year, brought an addition to this year's Homecoming parade with the float "Flying High Cards." The float received honorable mention in parade.

A vision of loveliness in her crown and robe, Queen Beth is all smiles as she greets her subjects before the parade.

Talent Resounds From Arlington's Performers

"O.K., who stole the white rabbit from my hat?" exclaims Chuck Constantino, freshman, entertaining amazed audience on Talent Show night with some of his famous mystical, magic card tricks.

Performing in the 1971 talent show are dancers Sheri Ryckaert, Mary Hansen, Laurie Glander, Tammy Mattix, Sheri Johnson.

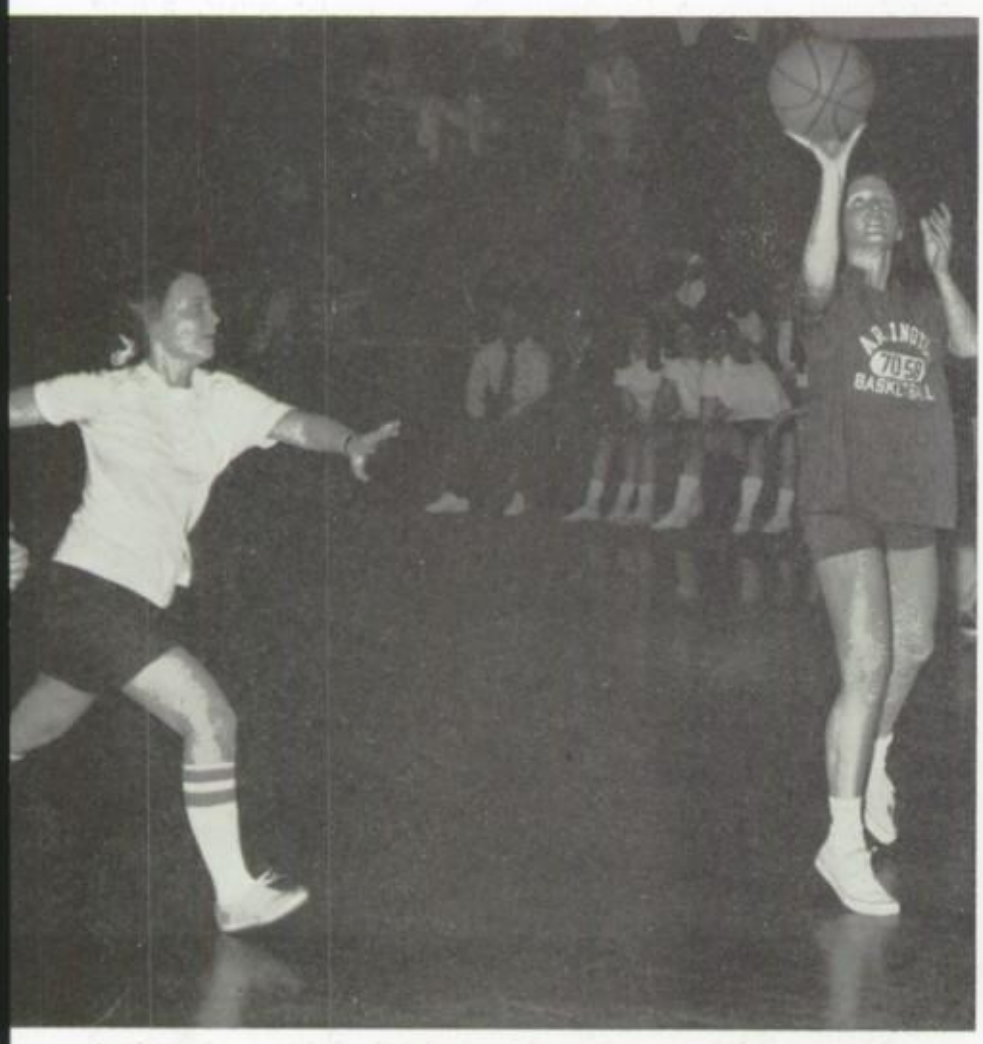
Cagerettes Put New Bounce Into The Game



Sandy Gabler, a member of winning junior team, carefully aims as her opponent senior Pat Stebbins rushes up to block her shot.

Wild, Vicious, Money-Loving–The Beauty Part

During the month of November, Arlington's fall play "The Beauty Part" was presented on the evenings of the eighteenth, nineteenth, and twentieth. This madcap comedy, written by S. J. Perelman, depicted how many people would sell their soul for the almighty dollar. The two main characters were Lance Weatherwax, played by David Thomas, and April Monkhood, portrayed by Barb Pamp.

These students and the rest of the cast members were, once again, under the direction of Douglas K. Murphy. Mr Friel acted as technical director.

The play, "The Beauty Part", was described in many ways, such as exciting, crazy, and a variety of other things. It met all these descriptions in many ways; it also had the distinction of having a dancing gorilla named "Bombo," who was portrayed by Tim Glisson. "Bombo," through his very clever portrayal and originality was quite a hit with the audience This, along with April Monkhood, who made one of her appearances via a giant pie, led to a number of other hilarious scenes, which all in all, stood to make this play a huge success.

Lance Weatherwax, portrayed by junior David Thomas, tells some of his ideas for improving business to his star-struck boss, characterized by Meryl Lee Steele (right), while April Monkhood, played by Barb Pamp, awaits the next scene (left).

Distraught over thoughts of marriage, April's fears are relieved; the only aspirations Lance has, are those of becoming a writer.

Bruce Boeck is shocked after Stephen Peifer, Steven Schaefer, Ray Hollenbach come up with a shockingly strange suggestion.

"Don't think you're going to tell me what I should do and get away with it!" threatens Mel Opela in anger to husband, Ed Foy.

Flirtatious Kitty Entrail played by Kathy Olsson, gets the undivided attention of Seymour Krumgold portrayed by Edward Foy.

Season's Spirits Dance All Night At The Ball

Her eyes sparkling with excitement and happiness, Elaine Maze and Randy Wood enjoy the spirit of the Christmas season.

Ted Bouffard and his date take a solemn moment out of the Christmas Ball to reflect upon their past Yuletide memories.

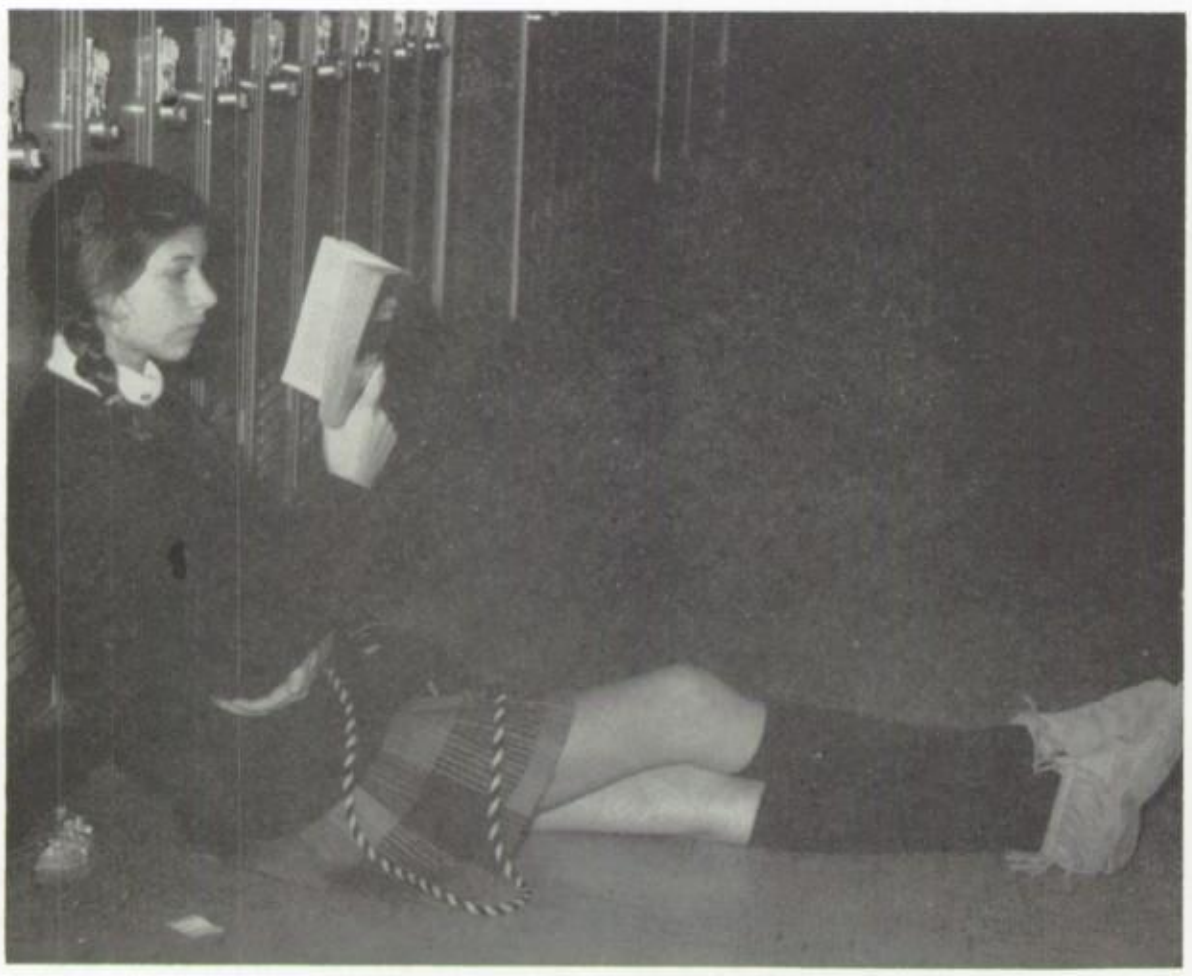
Junior Bill Schmid (above right) gobbles his way to a messy victory in the triple 'S' sponsored cherry pie eating contest. The snow filled bleachers await the '72 football season, after one of this winter's many blizzards made an unannounced attack.

Winter Months Bring Coldness And Hopes Of Spring To A.H.S.



Senior Laurie Robinson (above) spends her free period concentrating on an interesting book in a lonely and empty hallway. Mini courses, for example sewing and macrame, were offered to provide something useful to do during the lunch hours. Many people took advantage of this opportunity; does this solve the age-old question of where are all the students supposedly eating their lunch in the school cafeteria?

The five female members of the cast make their plea to the men to join the "glamorous" life that the army offered during WWI.

Aiming as if to kill, Ray Hollenbach, Steve Smith, Tim Glisson, and Tom Nicholson threaten the audience during winter play.

Senior Kathy Olsson, a Pierrot, uses her seductive qualities to appeal to an attentive audience during performance of the play.

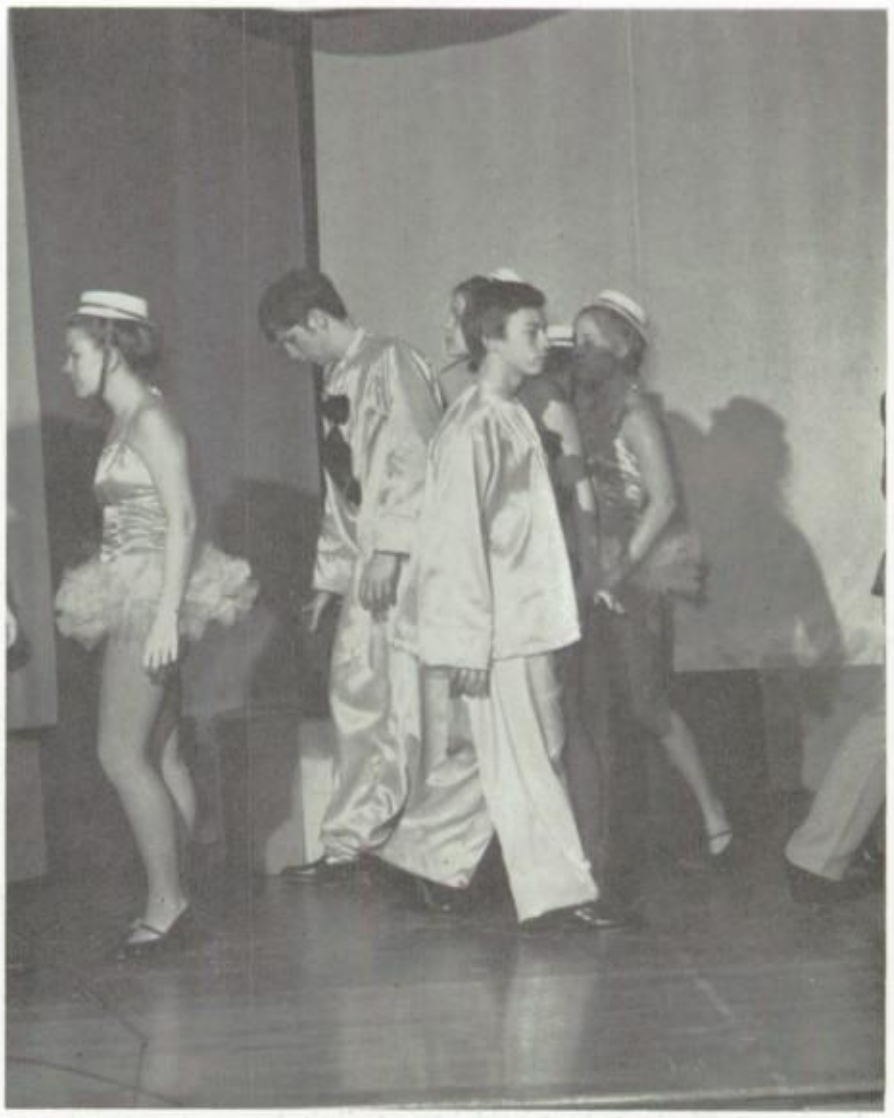
What A Lovely War Works For Winter Play

"War is not healthy for flowers, children, and other living things," or "Oh What A Lovely War" it isn't. This year's winter play, directed by Miss Lyvonne Trad, of the English Department, was performed on the evening of February 17, 18, and 19. A benefit performance on the afternoon of February 20 was given in the Helene Bristol Theatre.

The play, an anti-war dramatic satire by Joan Littlewood, was a musical production with emphasis on pointing out the true realities of war and the loss involved, not just in statistics, but in terms of people. This play was different from others done in the past at Arlington in that the cast had no lead parts. Instead, it consisted of a "groupe de pierrots" or group of clowns who conveyed the meaning of the play by way of their antics, songs, and conversations to the audience.

The clowns, consisting of five girls and sixteen boys, dressed in bright pink costumes and depicted the gaiety, optimism, and courage that portrayed the youth of the 1920's. The doughboys, seniors Steve Cook, Jim Hauer, Roxanne Petrucci, and Linda Ross, provided musical accompaniment for all of the different songs and set the mood for some scenes.

Both the company and their director, Miss Trad, dedicated the play to all young people of the world who feel that mankind must put an end to all wars. As one cast member put it, "when this lousy war is over, no more soldiering for me, when I get my civilian clothes on, oh, how happy I shall be!



The War Games are about to start, as the members of the cast get ready to man their battle stations for the upcoming events.

"Joan of Arc"–First Time For A High School

Ready, set, curtains! The AHS opera, "Joan of Arc" was underway. The opera, never before performed on a high school stage, consisted of members from Senior Choir and six little girls from Westgate.

The opera was about Joan of Arc at the stake and flashbacks were used to show the rest of her life. Written by Arthur Honeager and Paul Claudel.

Altogether the cast itself consisted of 12 members. The accompianists were Roxanne Petrucci and Mr. Jerome Pugsley. Technical and lighting directors were, respectively, Ed Foy and Eliot Morris. Stage Crew consisted of Lynn Egan, Tom McGuire, William Greisser, Thomas Gray and Eliot Morris. The little children were directed by a young lady, Miss Madeline Sauerbier, a teacher from Westgate. Costumes were by the Broadway Costume Company in downtown Chicago, also by Joyce Conway and Kristin Reeves. Make-up was by Mrs. Mary Tindall and company. Last but not least, Mr. Jerome Pugsley was director.

Porcus, played by junior Tom Gray, gave the death sentence to Jeanne during the opera that was put on by Senior Choir.

"Why, look at that odd creature crawling across our table!" says Junior Karen Weigle (above) to her escort at last year's Turnabout. The dance also created a romantic atmosphere for Seniors, Barb Sherman and Bill Tarchala, her unique choice of an escort.

Females Finally Have Control

JoAnne Lindblad smiles demurely as she innocently tucks her nosegay into Tom's pocket. Tom, puzzled, gazes downward.

Two musketeers, Gene Delaney and Jay Colloton, listen as Chris Johnstin explains in wonder and amazement how all of them managed to lose their dates in the crowd.

Gary Russell stops momentarily to think about a battle in which he sustained his injuries, and how they will change life for him.

Oriental costumes and scenery set the stage for last year's Spring Play, "Caucasion Chalk Circle," by Bertolt Bercht. "Caucasion Chalk Circle" illustrated human degradation. It was an anti-war play, occurring during a Civil War in an eastern country. Most of the play was about two women who fought for the same child.

Eve Lacker played Grusha Vashnadze, a kitchen maid who was devoted to an abandoned child, Michael. Kerry Wetton portrayed the child's mother. Grusha's lover was a soldier played by Dave Petersen. David Thomas played a drunken rascal who became a powerful judge and turned justice upside down. Martin Haeger portrayed the storyteller, whose role was basically to explain the play to the audience. One hundred and six talented students participated in this performance. The play's music was provided by Russ Daughtry, Maili Powell, Steven Cook, and Cynthia Bunting. Several young children from the surrounding schools were in the play.

In this unusually staged performance, Mr. Murphy was the director and Mr. Friel was the tech director.

"Caucasian Chalk Circle" Draws War Parable

The governor's adjutant, played by Scott McKay (right), gives disapproving glance to John Katovich (left), an architect, as he reveals his ideas for the construction of a garden for the queen.

Eve Lacker (left), throws a menacing glance at Dave Petersen, who is curiously eying her bulging package and teasing her while Russell Daughtry and his guitar watch offstage for a minute.

Thomas Nicholson (center), the Delegate of the State's Reconstruction Commission discussed the blueprints for the irrigation plant for the city of Koholtz, while the peasants of that village look on and listen with concerned interest and wonderment.

Village guards Tom Gray and Dennis Steele present their king Ron Ford, to the people of Caucasian Village before carrying him off to be executed (below). Seniors Kris Reeves and Meryl Steele (right) contemplate the statements of the unseen voice.

Mitchell Ware Wows Arlington At The Law Day Presentation

Fruit blossoms come into bloom at AHS (above), as some students leave the Law Day Mitchell Ware presentation (below).

Gypsy, based on the memoirs of Gypsy Rose Lee, came to the stage of Arlington's Grace Gymnasium on May 21 and 22, 1971. The cast of the musical included Diane Reider portraying Madame Rose, the domineering stage mother, Nancy Simon and Deborah Leydig as Rose's offspring June and Louise, and Kurt Franz as their agent Herbie. The parts of June and Louise in their early childhood were portrayed by Karen Grosemann and Meryl Steele.

This cast, under the direction of Mr. Jerome Pugsley, sang their way through such songs as "Let Me Entertain You," and "Everything's Coming Up Roses." The technical director was Mr. T. Friel. Pianists Ellen Olson and R. Petrucci, and an orchestra conducted by Mr. F. Schmoyer accompanied the show.

Deborah Leydig, portraying Louise in Arlington's 1971 musical production of "Gypsy," takes a moment out of her busy day to reflect upon her life now that she's a star.

"Gypsy" Rose Lee Is The Guest Of Arlington

"I have a moo cow, a true cow, a new cow, named Caroline," sings Baby June, played by Nancy Simon, (below) as Caroline dances. New armed forces recruits, Thomas Gray and Doug Pfau, (right) wonder if all this practice will really make them men.

Following last year's new "tradition" the junior class presented the prom as a dinner dance. The evening of May 28, 1971, was beautiful for the dance. The warm spring weather invited couples to walk outside to enjoy the many gardens and patios surrounding Arlington Park Towers. Dinner was served at 7:30 in the Jimmy Durante Room, and afterwards there was music and dancing. The final dance of the year was well worth the many weeks of anticipation and excitement.

During the course of the evening the traditional prom queen was chosen. The court consisted of Cathy Csepp, Pat Koch, Linda Langdon, Marty Gorman; and the queen for last year's prom, "Moments to Remember," was Cyn Dee Kort.

Part of the prom tradition was broken last year. There was not a planned after prom activity. Couples were free to plan their own activities. Many couples headed for the beach bright and early (5:00 A.M.) the next morning. The weather was great for an all-day picnic at the beach and for looking back on an evening that was filled with beautiful memories that can not be forgotten by those who attended the dance.

Looking forward to an exciting evening and memories, Greg Quid and Vicki Sevilla smile upon entering the 1971 Prom.

214 Administrators Achieved Many New Goals

Leading the troops through another year, the administration has had success with a few of the new policies. Open Campus, having its trial run last Spring, allowed the students to move freely throughout the building without the burden of passes or mandatory attendance in study halls. Upperclassmen were allowed to go over to the Teen Center during a free period to grab a bite to eat.

The Administration, led by Mr. Bruno Waara, included Mr. W. John Rowe, in charge of teaching services, and Mr. William Powell, who assisted in administrative matters.

Of course, everyone knew Mr. Guy Vena, the friendly man down in the Attendance Office who dished out the cut slips.

Last but not least, Director of Student Activities, Mr. Vincent Ahnquist. Former music director here at AHS, Mr. Ahnquist was also the sponsor for Student Council. He, along with Miss Craig, was a co-sponsor of the group AFS.

Five Administrators Introduce Some New Policies

Mr. Vincent Ahnquist, Director of Student Actiivities, takes time from his very busy schedule to strike a pose for a photographer.

Mr. Waara, Director of Arlington High School affairs, takes a moment of his time to read and sign a very important contract.

Those wonderful women behind the scenes kept Arlington rolling, again this year, by typing tests, delivering mail, making out attendance sheets, and organizing student and faculty announcements. The twenty-three secretaries, under the supervision of Mrs. Gast, make up three departments; instruction clerk typists, instruction assistants, and a twelve month clerical staff.

The library, also a vital part of Arlington, was re-arranged this year to help prevent further disappearance of books. Mrs. Guilfoil, the head librarian, as well as ordering new books, helped students with their class assignments.

The Audio Visual Department, often known as the guardian angels of the P.A systems, was a great asset to the school this year. Mr. Kavanaugh and his crew kept busy preparing tape slide presentations, making recordings, and ordering, distributing, and maintaining films and projectors.

Special services, much appreciated by Arlington, were Mrs. Ford, school nurse; Mr. Holiday, school psychologist; Mr. Brieding, Speech correctionist; and Mr. Sahlin, aiding those with different learning handicaps.

Arlington cooks have once again succeeded in bringing great pleasure to the multitude of hungry Arlington students. These wonderful people directed by Mrs. Hill and district supervisor Mrs. Woolsencroft, have continued to serve a wide variety of lunches and desserts. All of the women have children of their own, so they really know and understand what the starving student's stomachs are demanding. Between the ever-expanding candy and ice-cream line, yummy pizzas, hamburgers and the many varieties of potatoes, who could ask for more? It wasn't too difficult for the students to consume: 3790 homemade cookies, 7767 cartons of milk and 1130 hamburgers, and those figures held the students for only one week. The longer lunch shifts allowed a more leisurely and more filling lunch.

There is another group of people working around the clock who also deserve much recognition. They are the custodians. What would a student have done without that kind person to remove the foreign lock that someone had placed on his locker? During the school year the custodians cleaned the classrooms and scrubbed all the graffitti off the many walls and corridors of Arlington. Wasn't it nice to return after both Christmas and Easter to the clean, newly-waxed floors and sparkling classrooms? Well, if one had to come back to school at all after a much-deserved vacation, a clean classroom makes the burden much easier to bear. What would students do without the dependable service of all these people?

A member of Arlington's Custodial Services, Mr. A. Hattendorf works to clean up the traces of litter that students have left behind as the only evidence that they have traversed this hall.

AHS Counselors Guide Conscientious Cardinals

Changing schedules and giving advice to mixed-up students were a few of the jobs of the counselors at AHS this year. Altogether there are eleven people on the counseling staff. As one walks into the counseling office he sees a friendly secretary, Mrs. McKay, as well as hears all the mysterious laughter coming from the little cubbyholes off to the left and right. Besides giving aid, some counselors have the privileged job of sponsoring each of the four classes. Mr. Rosenthal and Miss Hampton are the Senior class sponsors; advising the Junior class are Mr. Clarke and Mrs. Champagne; Mr. Emery and Miss Craig have the Sophomore class; and last, but not at all least, the Freshmen class sponsors are Mr. Dorn and Mrs. Wilchek.

Next come the librarians. The library was remodeled this year because of the fact that people were stealing books out of the library. The remodeling has now put all of the books in numerical order, unlike before. Leading the troop of librarians through the years is Mrs. Guilfoil. Her assistant is Mr. Ciulla. The four instructional aids are Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Henze, Mrs. Kelsey, and Mrs. Kratsch, the friendly lady who sits behind the main desk and checks out books, helps one to find vital information, and receives money from overdue library books.

These two departments are vital to the student body because of their helpfulness in using the resources provided for them for their futures ahead.

Nouns, pronouns, and adjectives are not all that the English Department has been teaching. Recently, the English Department has added new clubs and courses to the schedule of this year. Immediately these courses and clubs were filled by students of Arlington High School who wanted to get into something new and exciting.

Acting class was filled so fast that students were forced to choose other courses. The Cardinal staff has admitted many new members from the Journalism class alone. In filmmaking, the students are showing movies which they made themselves. Many classes like Creative Writing and Vocational English are a lot stronger this year than they have been in the past. The Humanities classes are going on many field trips to various places of interest. Students in Lit. and Comp. classes are reading and writing more poetry.

Even the Drama classes got in on the action. Thanks to Mr. Wicklund, they are now able to use the Arlington Park Theater for their plays. According to Mr. Wicklund, the class in which the students are most active is speech. When Mr. James Wicklund, who is head of the English Department, saw the greater awareness of English, he decided to add one or two new courses to the agenda. These new classes are Shakespeare class, Individualized Reading and study skills.

Mr. Wicklund has been happy with the activities of the English Department in the past, and he looks forward to the continuation of making the English Department activities more interesting for the students.

A Pinch Of Accent With Some Foreign Taste

The ears of all these first year Spanish students are tuned to Mrs. Dietrich as she explains first-hand knowledge about Spain.

Bonjour, classe, Hola, Guten Tag, Salve, Hello; these are various snatches of the different sounds that drift throughout the corriders of the foreign language halls, beginning early in the morning and lasting until school closes, at the end of the day.

The Foreign Language Department, headed by Mr. Norman H. Nielsen, chairman, offers a selection of five different languages, a wide variety of choice for those students interested in new and different fields of study to explore. The choices are Latin, German, French, Russian and Spanish, all of which offer basic grammar. For the advanced students, a general course in the history of the language which he is studying, is offered.

A new feature of the Foreign Language Department this year was the addition of a resource center, which is intended to provide additional facilities, both now and in the future, for students involved in the various foreign language fields. The center includes study materials — such as, reference book, taped dialogues, additional reading materials and foreign language magazines.

Once again this year Arlington participated in the Foreign Exchange Student Program. A native of France, Christine Kiss, made her home in Arlington Heights for the school year.

Many students participating in the various foreign language classes have been well rewarded because of their new-found ability to communicate.

Budding Artists Bloom With New-found Talent

Drawing and painting were not the only elements explored in this past year's Art Department. The students covered many of the different media in the field of art. Students, who showed talent, participated in the Scholastic Art Show.

The courses offered this year were Art I, Art II, Art III-IV, and General Art. General Art, a one semester course, dealt with many of the beginning techniques and principles of art and was designed for the student with no art training.

Art I, the foundation course for advanced classes in the art curriculum, focused on basic drawing techniques and principles. The students concentrated on pencil, charcoal, and ink drawings. They also covered different ways of painting with water colors and tempera paints.

Art II centered on design and different forms of Art work, such as painting, drawing, sculpture, graphics, ceramics, and jewelry.

Art III-IV used these skills that were taught in Art I and II. In this phase of the course, the student worked to achieve his goals in terms of his artistic talents.

This year, the Art Department was directed by Mr. F. Michaelis, and aided by Mr. R. Abbott and Miss I. Zukerman. Because of their creative talents artists have continued to flow in and out of AHS.

Two dedicated art students, Patti Miller and Brad Burker, carefully add several finishing touches to their pencil sketches of a still-life setting during one of their classroom drawing sessions.

"It's a what!" exclaims Mr. Michaelis as sophomore Linda Simon tries to explain that ugly looking thing on her sketch pad. "She'd better stick to stick figures" he mumbles, ruminatively.

Strains of music and trombone blasts filled the air as the Arlington Music Department began another year of preparing vocal and instrumental music.

The Music Department is under the direction of Mr. Fredrick Schmoyer. He received his masters degree at the University of Pennsylvania and played professionally with the Bellanca Air Craft Corporation Band. Mr. Schmoyer has been teaching here at AHS for twenty-six years. Through his talents he has produced many excellent performances.

Mr. White directs Freshmen Girls' Chorus, Girls' Glee, Harmonettes and is also the sponsor of Tri-M. Tri-M., Modern Music Masters, is an organization of honorary music students. Becoming a member requires passing a test and proving one's musical ability. Mr. White, in his tenth year of teaching at AHS, received his masters degree at the University of Iowa.

The Choraliers, Senior Choir, Mixed Chorus, and Freshmen Boys' Chorus, are all under the direction of Mr. Pugsley, commonly known as "Mr. P." He received his masters degree in music at the University of Iowa, and has taught here for six years.

P.E. Exercises Jog Your Body, Not Your Mind

Neither smelly gymsuits nor dirty tennis shoes nor adverse weather discouraged Arlington's Physical Education Department last year. Every hour of the day the P. E. teachers, led by department head Mr. Russell Attis, could be seen carrying on their never-ending struggle to bring physical fitness to the students of Arlington. Several student teachers also helped to make it a successful year.

One teacher was added to the department. Mrs. Cook became the newest P. E. teacher and the sponsor of Orchesis.

For the second year in a row, junior and senior girls were able to choose the courses they wanted to take in Physical Education. Cycling and Self-defense were two new choices that were added to the list last year. Some girls took Dance instead of a regular gym class, while others participated in Leaders' class. Orchesis and Cardettes have classes of their own.

Boys who were active in an organized sport were allowed to take a study hall instead of P. E. class.

All year round both the boys and the girls used the pool for Physical Education. Classes such as Diving and Recreational Water Games were offered. A variation of swimming techniques were also taught.

To whom do these gym shoes belong? They are the leftovers of gym class. Does anyone happen to want a pair of old gym shoes?

Baking And Making Equals Fun And Enjoyment

This year Arlington's Home Economics Department offered a wide selection of classes pertaining to almost every part of home life. The classes included Sewing, Child Development, Family Meals, and Homemaking. These courses attracted many girls, hopeful of developing necessary skills in such things as planning a meal.

Food nutrition is a vital element in today's society and was one of the many key points discussed in class. In sewing courses, which harmonized today's fashions, students took part in the making of an array of clothes. Our future housewives participated in the task of Childcare and the handling of a problem child. Surely one smelled all those delectable cupcakes, pies, and hearty main dishes, made by the cooking classes as one passed room 145. The teachers were Mrs. Kane, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Post, and Mrs. Heinz.

Arlington's boys truly showed their skill in the area known as Industrial Arts. These courses included in the department were Metals, Power Mechanics, General Woods, Electronics and Technical Drawing.

The classes readied the boys for the outside world and trained them each in a specific trade. In Power Mechanics the boys were taught specifically about cars which would be useful to them when they would once own a car of their own. Cabinets, shelves and tables were but only a few of the things constructed in General Woods. A future draftsman was surely the idea a boy had when he took the course of Technical Drawing. One of the more elaborate classes, Electronics included the work on stereos and televisions. The Metals classes took part in the making of such things as casting a pre-formed object. The teachers all worked together and showed the boys a future.

Mr. Thompson, Industrial Education teacher shows some of the basic principles of applying, and the practical uses of a vice to his eager and enthusiastic class of future apprentice carpenters.

Busy Minds Account For The Business World

The sharp, staccato rhythm of electric and manual typewriters increased as more and more AHS'ers saw the light and began to think about learning how to type "jjj space" in rhythm. Business Law students learned the interesting facts of the laws of big business.

Office Occupations, a course under the direction of Mrs. Donna Hult, was a very popular course this year. Senior girls were given the chance to better their knowledge of actual office occupations for which they were paid.

Another unique class, Distributive Education, under the direction of Mr. Silverman gave students a chance to earn both academic credits and money by leaving school early to work at various jobs such as Turnstyle in the afternoon and going to classes in the morning.

Members of the Diversified Occupations Club, another Business Education Department offering, also learned class credit and work experience, under the guidance of Mr. Nichols. Members also helped each person to develop his or her leadership abilities through educational and vocational activities.

Many other courses were also designed to help students in the wide field of Business Education.

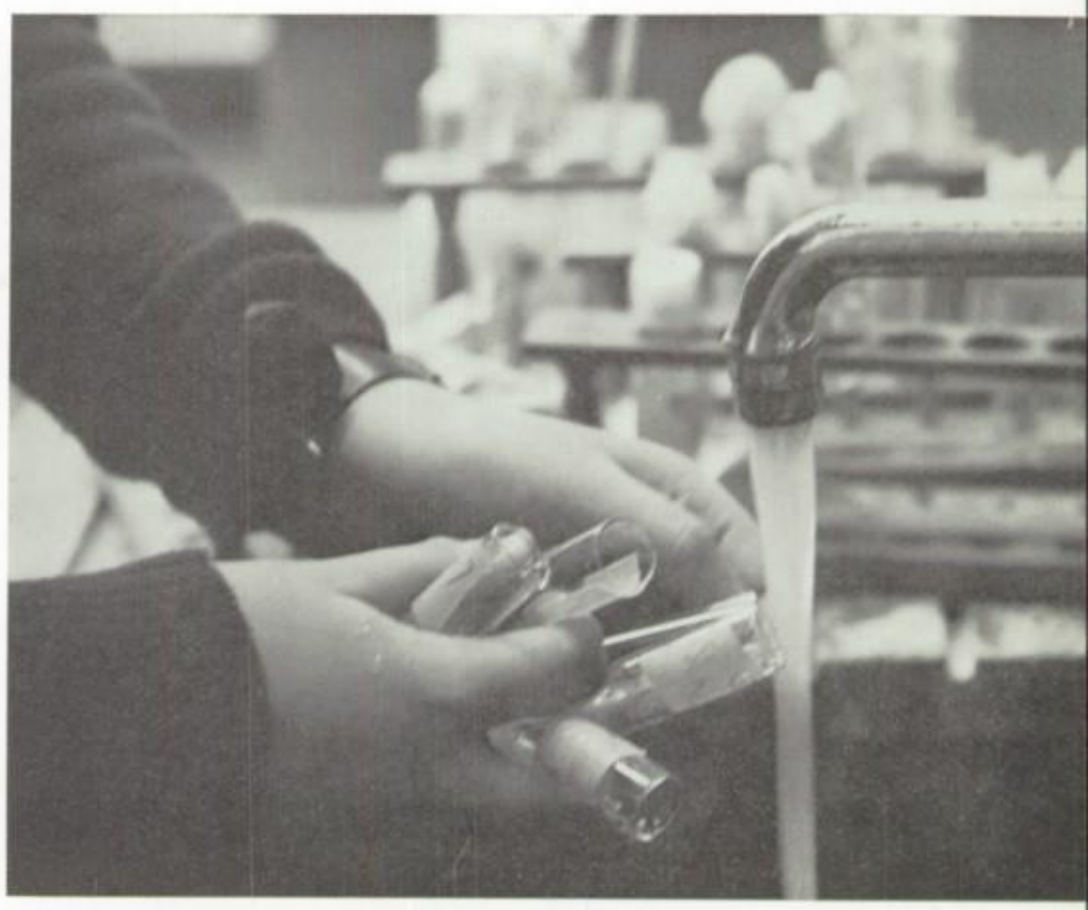
"Its duck soup," explaims Mr. Charles Haines as he tries to penetrate the minds of Arlington's trigonmetry students once again.

There were several changes and new goals set for both the Math and Science Departments this year. Students seemed to lack the necessary motivation and enthusiasm to form after school clubs such as the Chemistry, Biology, and Math Clubs, which were formed in previous years. That does not mean there are not any activities. Group activities have faded away and individual activities are growing. Interested students have the opportunity to study and experiment in the science field of their choice. One will find students in a chemistry lab making all sorts of concoctions; others will be on the roof gazing through an AHS telescope; and some will be observing the tiny world of microscopic life. Students were free to study and experiment on their own time and at their own pace.

The Math Department also had much to offer to interested students. The courses ranged from the new approach to Essential Math, where students use a lab as well as a book; through the standard Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry courses to Calculus where students can receive advanced placement credit. There was also a class entitled Computer Science for all the advanced mathematical geniuses.



The remains of another great experiment "go down the drain", as helping hand works its hardest to, "Keep America Beautiful".

Singers Tone Their Voices to a Perfect Pitch

Swinging and singing through another year, the Arlington High School Choraliers and Girls Glee, with their directors being Jerome Pugsley and Boyd White, respectively, turned out many splendid performances in the 1972 school year. Choraliers, the only madrigal group at Arlington, started out the year by singing at our September TPC Meeting.

With the TPC Meeting giving them the kind of inspiration needed the Choraliers sang at many churches and at homes for the elderly. The sixteen member group was at its peak during Christmastime.

Girls Glee, a much larger group, has had many performances, especially during the Christmas season also. Girls Glee is the best of underclassmen.

Harmonettes and Senior Choir are supposedly the cream of the crop as far as singing groups fair at AHS. This year, being no exception to the rule, showed the many varied talents from both groups.

For the opera this year, Senior Choir performed the Arthur Honegger version of Joan of Arc at the Stake. Arlington's production represented the only high school presentation ever attempted.

As for Harmonettes, the 1972 season has been a typical one, busy, but exciting. Besides performing at the Drake Hotel, in Chicago, the Harmonettes also appeared in living color on the morning talk show Kennedy and Company. Another of the major performances was at the annual Flower and Garden Show.

Frosh Boys Sound Off

Singing brings pleasure to many in the Music Department. The Freshmen Boys' Chorus meet every day during first hour. Mr. Pugsley was both the director and accompanist. The boys' chorus performed music concerts that were given throughout the year. Along with the boys' chorus, there was also a Freshmen Girls' Chorus.

The Freshmen Girls' Chorus was under the leadership of Mr. White. The chorus performed at several concerts. Being the future great singers for the Music Department, these girls sang their hearts out. Accompaniment was provided by different girls in the group. Many of the students from Freshmen Boys' and Girls' Choruses will continue their singing by participating next school year in Mixed Chorus or other of the various musical groups.

Mixed Chorus was made up of boys and girls who were Sophomores and Juniors. They were under the direction of Mr. Pugsley.

Modern Music Masters is sponsored by the three music teachers. Tri-M held a bake sale and took a trip to the Chicago Symphony Chorus. Angela Berry, President; Dave Zonsius, Vice-President; Pam Burkhardt, Secretary; Sue Caranci, Treasurer; and Jeanne Ebert, historian, led the thirty-four members in the Tri-M twentieth anniversary celebration this year.

Music slowly filtered through the doors of room 227 as Arlington's bands, under the direction of Mr. Schmoyer, began another year of excellence in music. With the addition of two periods, the instrumental music program was slightly changed from previous years. Instead of only two bands, concert and beginning, there were three: symphonic, concert, and beginning. They meet fifth, sixth, and first hours respectively.

The symphonic and concert bands combined to form the Cardinal Marching Band which performed for all football games. They also attended the 16th annual Band Day at Northwestern University on September 25. In the winter these bands also provided the music for the basketball games.

Quality, not quantity, was evident in Arlington's string orchestra this year. With the addition of selected brass and woodwind players from symphonic band the orchestra contributed its talents to the spring musical, District 214 Music Festival, and other concerts through out the year. Members of both band and orchestra brought AHS honor at the state music contest held in February at Gurnee, Illinois. Because of a lack of interest German Band and Jazz Band did not appear this year, but all in all participation in the department was a fantastic learning experience.

Students in Distributive Education (D.E.), Diversified Occupations (D.O.), and Office Occupations (O.O.) along with earning academic and work credits have had time to participate in their own clubs.

The 23 members of D. E. met every Friday. Elected officers were Robert Parks, President; Pat Erlander, Vice-President; Terry Townsend and Cindy Conley, Secretaries; and Roberta Judycke, Treasurer. The club and their adviser Mr. M. A. Silverman, had a busy year with a bake sale, a car wash, an Employee-Employer banquet, and entrance in the state D. E. contest.

D. O. met once a month with 35 members. This year's officers were Presidents Keith Knoll and Dan McVey; Vice President Jamie Kessner; and Secretary-Treasurer Bill Mockery. These officers with their adviser Mr. J. R. Nichols' helped plan an Employee-Employer banquet and attended a leadership conference in Springfield.

O. O. is a business club designed to develop competency in office occupations. It met once a month and had 20 members, with Mrs. D. J. Hult as adviser were Donna Aagaard, President; Carol Walsh, Vice-President; Vicki Sevilla, Secretary; and Kim Bialkowski, Treasurer. The club sponsored different bake sales, a car wash, and an Appreciation Banquet.

Student directories and taffy apple sales were among the many projects National Honor Society participated in. Miss Frey and Miss Cobb sponsored the group headed by Pete Anderson, President; Tom Hendricks, Vice President; Lee Ann Davidheiser, Secretary and Carol Jernberg, Treasurer.

All members of the National Thespian Society supported the productions of all the dramatic performances put on at Arlington. To be eligible for this club you must have worked at least one hundred hours as an actor or worker behind the scenes.

Representatives from the Jesus Revival were one of the groups presented by Student Forum. The officers of the organization were President Mary Klimek, Topics Chairman Colleen Carmean, Secretary Karla Rindal and Publicity Chairman Karen Doughtry.

Individual Speech Events, which was sponsored by Miss Stavros and Miss Martin, gives students an opportunity to perform in areas of public speaking and dramatics against those from other schools.

National Forensic League, under the leadership of John Robb, sponsored the Cardinal Calendar, the Cardinal Carnival of Competition Debate Tournament and the NFL Fall Student Congress. Mrs. Gibson, Mr. Wagner and Miss Trad helped out with the club.

This past year feature films such as Buck Rogers, Flash Gordon, Laurel and Hardy, and W. C. Fields were made available by the Cinema Club during the lunch hours for the mere cost of a dime. President Greg Andrew, Vice-President Ken Ravazzolo, and Mr. Robert Runtz, moderator, worked towards the promotion of more film viewing at Arlington.

Although Chess Club was not large in number, the enthusiasm ran high and the competition was stiff. The activity, led by President Frank Adams, Vice-President Terry Platt, and sponsored by Mr. Boesel provided a challenge to all who participated.

A. V. was a service designed to aid the students by providing the necessary equipment to relate the different approaches used by teachers through visual means such as movie projectors and transparency projectors. Mr. Kavanaugh and his boys had a full job keeping these machines in good running order.

The Debate team headed by captain John Robb and its sponsors, Mr. Wagner and Mrs. Gibson, traveled throughout the state with a squad of about 30 members. They were: Resolved that the jury system of the U. S. should be significantly changed.

Quill and Scroll has never been open to students in general as are most activities. The organization, sponsored by Mr. Boesel and Mrs. Tedell, honors only those people working in the field of journalism.

Cardinal Provides Arlington's News And Views

Debbie Heicken, editor-in-chief of the AHS school newspaper, the Cardinal, relaxes with staff after meeting another deadline.

"Start the presses!" is the cry heard from the happy Cardinal editors after meeting another deadline on time.

This year the Cardinal saw only a few changes. Tongue-in-Cheek, a new column devoted to satire, was written with the average student in mind. It described humorous topics that were well-known to the AHS students. Even the nameplate took on a more sophisticated style with the letters in blocked form.

Debbie Heicken, Editor-in-Chief, knew she could always depend on her editorial staff writers, Frank Constantino and Margaret Manos, for fresh and exciting ideas. News editor, Beth Friese, guided and supervised her assistant editors to write news on important events. Feature editor, Jan Sieferman, along with her assistant editors, put humor and laughter in many of the students' days. Pat Rusch and Fred Vogt covered important events and kept the student body informed on coming sport happenings. Jay Talaber, with Frank Higgason's help, handled business affairs. Photography was done by Ray Hollenbach. In times of trouble the editors were rescued by their advisor, Mrs. Suzanne Tedell. All the editors and staff are in Journalism III-IV. Students in Journalism I and II act as reporters while learning the basics of journalism. The staff, composed of students, is interested in reporting the changes of today every day.

Yearbook Editors Put Out "Best One Ever"

Under the guiding hand of Mr. Robert Boesel, the Heights staff has once again put forth the necessary time, effort, and imagination to produce this year's yearbook. Copy Editor, Pam Burkhardt; Layout Editor, Andrea Polites; and Picture Editor, Pam Miller have worked together with the eighth hour and the after-school staffs to construct an entertaining, but meaningful collection of the year's events.

These people worked diligently to meet the copy and caption deadlines. Many cries could be heard daily escaping from Room 108, such as: "No! I couldn't have spelled a word wrong, its fits perfectly." All and all, the staff has lots of fun mixed in with lots and lots of hard work; but nothing is more rewarding than the satisfaction of seeing the happy faces of our many yearbook owners, subscribers, and our many readers.

Council Opens New Horizons For AHS Students

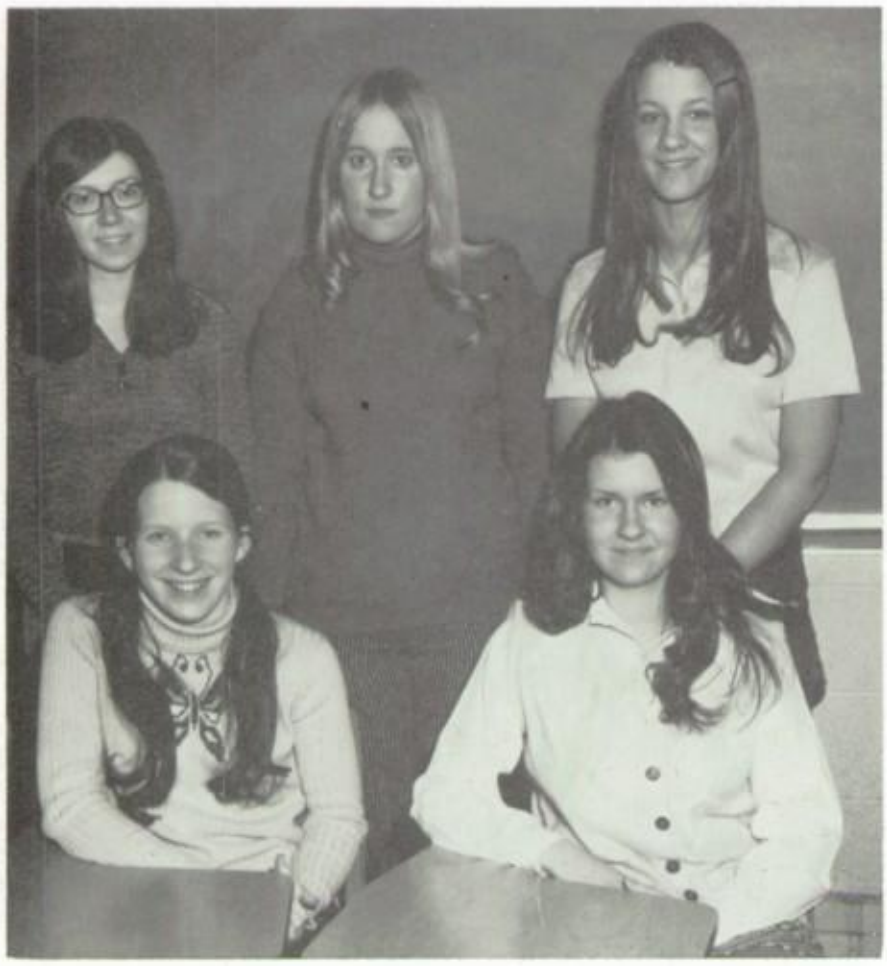
A brand new executive board took on their responsibilities after first semester last year. This new schedule gave everyone a fresh start during a notoriously stagnant time of year. President Tom Arnold and his executive board began the term with ideas and enthusiasm. Mark Catalano, vice-president, assisted Tom, while Pam Burkhardt recorded the minutes. Scott Stains kept the financial records, and Cindy Bunting took care of communications. Ken Edelblute, parliamentarian, kept order in the group.

Last spring Council raised three hundred and twenty dollars for the Muscular Dystrophy Drive, more money than the rest of the District collected. Council also sponsored the Talent Show and coordinated the Homecoming parade last fall. A Homecoming Revisions Board was formed to evaluate and improve Homecoming for next year.

Six of the fifty-five members were on the SFA, or Student Faculty Administration. They met with six faculty members and two administrators to discuss major policy changes like open campus and curriculum changes. The SFA was very effective in providing a link between Mr. Waara and the students.

A Creative Exhibition Day was held in January, giving students a chance to display their talent.



TRIPLE-S OFFICERS

Service to the school and community provided Triple "S" and Key Club with many activities. Led by Miss VandenBoss, Triple "S" met only every other week. The club, with Ann Nakutny as President, was helped by Meg Yorke, Vice-President, Amy Parchmann, Corresponding Secretary, Sue Hanson, Secretary, and Linda Isaacson, as Treasurer. The club held many different parties and fun activities. They had a transfer party on September 14 for all new junior, sophomore, and senior students to become acquainted with each other. Other activities sponsored were a bake sale, on September 30, a Christmas Dinner on December 15, a cherry pie-eating contest on Washington's Birthday, and a car wash. The girls also made Christmas stockings for orphan children.

Quality not quantity was the motto for Key Club this year. With only ten members, the club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Gibson met once each week to accomplish its purpose of rendering services to the school and community.

Led by President Bill Shotwell, Vice-President Todd Wendorf, Secretary John Dillon, and Treasurer Greg Schaffer, the club's ten members were kept busy selling concessions, parking cars at home games and other numerous projects. In order to become a member, a boy had to fill out an application stating why he wanted to become a member of this service club.

Fox River Valley Rifle Range was the place where the Rifle Club could be found this year. The group took weekly journeys to the range to practice and improve their shooting ability. President Dan Fournelle, Vice-President Mike Niemczyk, Secretary Warren Moody and Treasurer Tom Davies helped to promote among the club sportsmanship, marksmanship and safety with firearms. Mr. Garcia and Mr. Thompson were the sponsors of Rifle Club.

Wednesday night was usually the night when the Ski Club, sponsored by Mr. Russell, traveled to ski at Wilmot Mountain. Attempts were made by President Tom Talbot, Vice President Tom Hartnett, Secretary Carol Dalbke and Treasurer Mary Hansen for the club to go on the annual Indianhead semester break trip. Plans fell through, and the trip to Bessemer, Michigan had to be cancelled. The Ski Club did go to Devil's Head in February and Steamboat Springs, Colorado during spring vacation.

Meeting every Monday of the week, Riding Club, sponsored by Mrs. Hammond and led by Sharon Underwood, President; Wendy Jacobson, Vice-President; Laurie Meissner, Secretary and Linda Craig, Treasurer, provided students with a chance to learn the skill of horsemanship. The club, twenty-five members strong, participated in horse shows and also collected money for the "Save the Mustang" project.

Orchesis Makes "Dance Odyssey" A Real Trip

Senior Orchesis members Sheri Ryckaert and Cathy Kelly (right) attempt to create serious moods through interpretive dance in "Ole to Movement," but Cathy blows it.

It was another active year for all of the thirty-four members of Orchesis, Arlington's dance group. Miss Whitney, sponsor, aided the girls in building the traditional Homecoming float and selling balloons at the Homecoming game. As usual, Orchesis danced at basketball half-times, at various other school events, and at Bond School. During the month of December they held a very successful, ever popular bake sale.

Orchesis, this year, had five very experienced members to help with the annual show. These three year members were Sheri Ryckaert, Loni Larsen, Nancy Simon, Emadene Travers and Patti Miller. "Dance Odessey," the 1971 Orchesis show, was given on April 2 and 3, providing the members an opportunity to express their feelings through original dances. "Stark," "Glad," and "Embryonic Journey" have been seen.

Ellen Frisbie and Sheri Ryckaert shuffle through a Dance Odyssey doing their own tap-happy version of "Steam Heat".

Seniors Emadine Travers and Loni Larsen participate in the 1971 Orchesis presentation entitled "Dance Odyssey." Here they convey an interpretation of witchcraft.

Seniors practice to achieve success in their individual sport, above Gary Braunsreuter, concentrates to give his all for a performance on the still rings. Chris Marszalek, below, happily contemplates the correct way of teeing off to master a perfect shot.

"Arlington Gets Into The Sprint Of Things!"

In the past years, Arlington's track team has been one of the best teams in the conference. Last year the team hot-footed it to another high scoring season.

One of the athletes, senior Tom Sayre, threw the discus and high-jumped his way to a 2nd place in conference, 2nd place in District and took an 11th in the State. Tom was also awarded the Athlete of the Year. Other seniors which contributed to the scoring were Mike Split and Mike Burke. Split was conference champion in the 440 yard run and the mile relay. Mike Burke threw the discus and put the shot to take the 4th in District's and 2nd in conference. Junior Mike Cleveland is sure to replace Mike Split in the 440 yard run and the mile relay.

Sophomore Greg Morand set a new school record of 13 feet in pole-vaulting. He went on to take 4th in Districts. Bernt Clem, an impressive freshman long-jumper, has a good future in the event, as he set a new record at 9 feet 9 inches. A freshman with fantastic speed, Jim Richards ran part-time varsity, but primarily he ran frosh-soph. Steve Gehrig, another outstanding freshman, threatened to tie the standing frosh record with a vault of 10 feet 8 inches.

Coach Samoore, the head coach of Arlington's team, was very impressed with his men this year especially his young trackmen that will be returning next fall. Coach Samoore is hoping to capture State next spring.

Split-second timing and a perfect hand-off are essential, as Rick Clemans demonstrates in his pass to senior partner Bill Welton.

"That is all there is to it," says Jon Deevy as he explains to his opponent, after he serves. "Now let's see if you do the same."

Beginning the season with a pair of invitationals, the Arlington netmen placed fourth both at the New Trier East and the Evanston meets; but that was only the beginning of an almost perfect year for the Cardinal courtiers.

Once again proving that tennis at Arlington is a winning racket, the Card team, comprised of returning Varsity netmen Jim Merkel, Greg Gibble, and Don Rodig, respectively at the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd singles positions; and the teams of Bruce Starek-Carl McWherter and John Koriath-Jon Deevy at the doubles positions outplayed their opponents to produce the best overall season that Coach Tom Pitchford had ever seen here at Arlington.

In dual meets against all other schools in the district, Arlington had only one loss to Hinsdale-Central, which was a 3-2 thriller brought on because of their number one singles player, Billy Martin, who is a nationally ranked tennis player; but the Cards overcame that loss with nine 6-0 victories, giving the Cards first place title in the district. At the Hersey courts, the Cardinal netmen also took first place in the Mid-Suburban League Conference.

Out of 64 singles positions and 64 doubles teams at the University of Illinois, Jim Merkel, captain Bruce Starek and his partner Carl McWherter advanced to the third round, in order to capture the 7th place for the Arlington Cardinal courtiers in the state meet.

Trying hard to sink the final putt, a Card golfer attempts to give his team the lead, as his trembling friends watches.

With a record of eight wins and only two losses the Arlington golf team stroked their way to victory.

The Cards captured the coveted conference crown with Capt. Jack Van Veen, medalist Chris Marszalek and Mike Rossi leading the pack.

Coach Walthouses's squad placed second at the sectionals meet at Crystal Lake. A third place award was taken by Chris Marszalek. In the district meet the varsity got it all together and won the No. 1 place tied with another team. In the state meet our team obtained a 17th spot finish. With several returning letterman, next year appears to be a good one. Returning Varsity letterman are John Gibbel, Gordon Kaser and expected Capt. Chris Marszalek. Coach Walthouse hopes to improve on his last year record of his impressive eight and two. The team will be based on Chris Marszalek and again will be seeking the conference golf title.

The Cards see victory ahead.

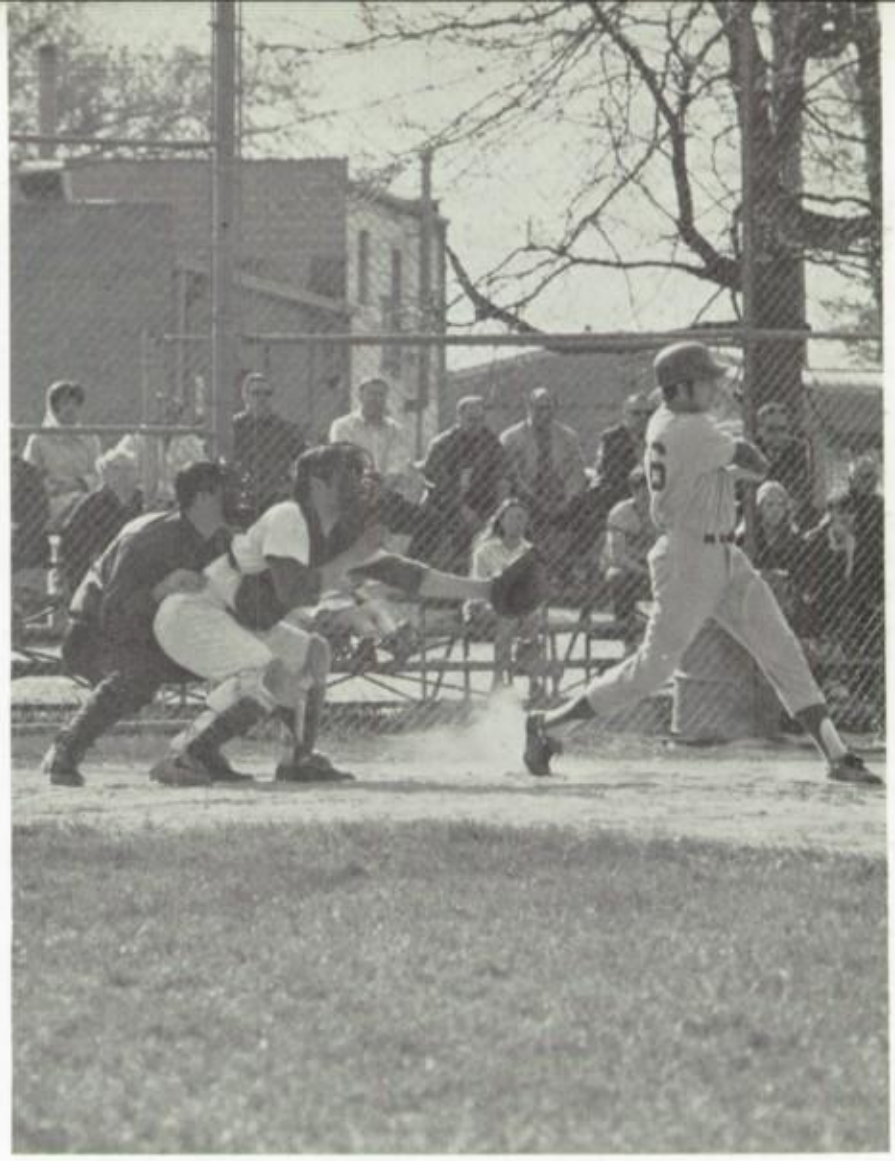
As the umpire gets fresh with the catcher; Gene Elsberg jumps from the ball. John Brodnan takes a long awaited turn to bat.

Arlington varsity baseball started off their, as pros call it, pennant winning season by beating the Ridgewood team, 3-0. Coach Somers, his returning lettermen and star rookies batted their way to winning eleven games and suffering five defeats. Team captains, who included Chuck Donchess and also Mike Wilbins, led their team all the way to a successful season. They beat the Hersey Huskies 6-2 and pushed on to beat Wheeling 15-5. Mr. Somers feels his team turned in a excellent season and gave more than one hundred percent even when the chips were down.

When it came to districts, Arlington showed superiority and beat St. Viator 3-2 and Forest View 3-2. Later the regionals arrived and the Cards who played Lake Park, lost 7-0. Their last game soon arrived, a playoff at Elk Grove, which they won 8-5. This ended Arlington's baseball season where both skills and scores were exhibited. Surely Coach Somers will be looking for fresh starters next year.

The Sophomores, under the coaching of Mr. Drain, advanced their way to an even nine and nine season.

Coached by Mr. Burke, the Frosh "A" ended their season with 2 wins, 14 losses and 1 tie. The Frosh "B", coached by Mr. Benes turned in a fair season by winning 3 and losing 12. The Redbirds will be back to create excitement in the sport of baseball.



Onlookers, watching intently, see Brodnan double for the Cards. which brings in the winning run to pull the Cards into the lead.

Backfield in Motion; Good Insight for a TD

Proving themselves a winning team, Arlington's record in football consisted of five wins, two losses and one tie. Head coach Bob Walter had the job of reshaping last year's championship team and proving that winning at Arlington isn't an accident, but surely a tradition. Although he didn't succeed in bringing another Conference Crown to Arlington, he surely taught each boy individually, self-discipline. Other varsity coaches who worked right along with the team were Coach Pitchford and Coach Henderson.

Arlington opened up their season with a shutout against Maine West, 21-0. Star Quarterback Terry Ormsbee led the Cards throughout the season with speed and accuracy. Other Cardinal stars included seniors Bill Welton, Mike Cleveland, Greg Watland, and Mike Prafke. In the playoff game, Arlington played to a 6-6 tie with Schaumburg.

Arlington's J. V. enjoyed an undefeated season while the sophomores had a mark of 1-7. The freshman had respective records with the Frosh "A" team winning 3 and losing 4 and the Frosh "B" had a 2-4-1 record.

Presenting The Colors, Formations With Snap

New patterns in Red and White unfold as the AHS Coronet Drill Team performed their half-time drills during the 1971-72 Football and Basketball games. These performances of precision marching required many hours of diligent practice. In addition to their regular evening rehearsals, the 40-member unit met for early-bird sessions to add the finishing touches which gave the Coronets another fine year.

The Coronets took the field under the direction of co-captains Sue Andresen and Mary Santelli, who also designed and taught the drills.

Presenting the colors with the pride and showmanship which have become their trademark, the AHS Coronet Color Guard opened all home Swimming meets and Basketball games. The 25 girls who made up the guard included the 16 pikes, 4 rifles, 2 sabers and the flag party. They met twice a week, learning the drills under the direction of Color Guard Sergeant Karen Stephens.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Linda Andersen, the Coronets sponsored a bake sale and worked consessions to raise money for their equipment and Color Guard uniforms.

New hopefuls learn drill basics at a series of clinics before the try-outs that are held during the spring.

Starting off the year with a bang of a starter's pistol, Arlington High School's Cross Country team thought their outlook was good. But as fate would have it, they soon discovered their plans would not be as they thought. They finished the season with a 6th place in Conference. Jim McGrath received a 12th place in the Conference Meet and Tom Jarm who had the second best time for Arlington, received a 15th place. In the District Meet, the team scored a 9th place. Cross Country runners that have won awards for themselves and the team are seniors Jim McGrath, Tom Jarm, and Scott Barnett; and juniors Bill Schmid, Tom Holub, Dave Tremblay, and Neil Haseman. The juniors will be returning next year to try to bring the Cards a victorious season.

The sophomores did a great job this year ending up with two boys who scored high in the Sophomores Conference. Sophomore Mike Haseman received a 4th place along with Don Goers, who took the 10th place slot in the Conference Meet. The 3rd place trophy was given to the sophomore team for the Conference Meet. The freshman team took a close 2nd place in the Conference Meet with Bob Wadsworth who received an individual medal for third place.

Coach Samoore is looking forward to the "young blood" which will be on the varsity team next year. This "young blood" will come from the Sophomores of '71 and '72 and maybe some of the freshmen.

Gymnasts Muscle Their Way To State Meet

"We have been the top team in the state all the way up until now, and that's the way it's going to stay," announced Mr. Tom Walthouse, the head coach of Arlington's Gymnastics Team, when the season was only half over. But, true to his word, the mighty Cards stayed number one right up to the end of the season. Ending with a final record of 16 wins and no losses in dual meets, the gymnasts were making and breaking records every chance they could.

The team broke the school record of 145.97 which was made last year. The new record is 146.25. It was set in a meet against Forest View. Senior Doug Law also set a new school record for total points average for all around. The new school record for Arlington is a 7.70 average in five events.

Arlington has at least one top contender for the state finals in each event. The gymnasts who will represent the Arlington Cardinals are Craig Combs, free-exercise; Franz Golbeck, the side horse; Joe Temko and Doug Law, high bar; Craig Combs, also on the trampoline; Doug Law, parallel bars; and Gary Braunsreuter on the still rings. Doug Law will be the all around. With a champion team like this, Arlington is sure to take first place in the state meet. The gymnasts have already taken first place in the Conference, Districts, and the Sectional meets. This is just another factor that hopefully will bring the Arlington Gymnasts first place in State.

The Sophomore team has had a tough season this year but hopefully they will do better next year.

Another Basketball Year Through The Hoops!

Arlington's Cagers had set the court. Everyone was anticipating the coming 1972 season to be one of the Cagemen's best years. George Zigman, the head coach of the Red Birds, had two of his outstanding starters back from last year: Ken Peters, a fast-moving guard, who added great excitement to the game, and Mike Cleveland, forward, whose ball control and speed were some of the many high points in the game. Other starters, who helped lead the team to victory, were center, Bill Grandt, forward, Tim Will, and guard, Jim Hopkins.

The other boys on the team, who backed them up were forward, Terry Ormsbee, forward, Bill Welton, center, Kevin Donahue, and guard, Bob Bunn; though seldom mentioned, they contributed spirit and a great deal of talent. Everyday in practice, these boys gave the starting line-up the best competition possible.

The quick and sure tactics of the Varsity team gained them points again and again. Passing was accurate and the offense was successful at maintaining ball-control. The recognition gained by this years team's great work provided satisfaction and excitement for the Cardinal fans.

Mr. Gary Brodnan was the coach of the Cardinal Junior Varsity team. The outstanding abilities of these promising young athletes will help to strengthen and insure their upcoming years in the varsity's line-up.

"A" Club is Arlington's organization for varsity lettermen. The new sponsor for the 1971-72 year was Mr. Smith. The president of "A" Club Steve Jurco, the vice-president Terry Ormsbee, and secretary-treasurer Mike Cleveland guided the other members in various activities.

Some of the projects which "A" Club participated in were community projects, and others were school activities. "A" Club gave money to the Northwest Opportunity Center which enabled about ten underprivileged families to have a hearty Christmas dinner. They also aided Gateway House, and helped the Arlington Heights Historical Society move into The Country Store. Once again "A" Club members sponsored the traditional Homecoming dance in the fall, ushered at the basketball sectionals, and attended the annual hockey game.

In order for a boy to become a member of "A" Club he must have earned a varsity letter in one or more sports. He then has to be selected as a pledge by the active members. After the boy has spent several rigorous weeks of pledging, he is initiated. Finally the boy becomes a regular active member of "A" Club. The club's greatest objective was to have its members promote school spirit and to increase good sportmanship. These members also helped to better relations between other schools in the area.

After receiving a second place medal for diving, Ray Hollenbach, junior, pauses to contemplate his winning performance.

During the 1971-72 season the Arlington Swim Team saw what may be one of the school's first instances of Women's Liberation. Mrs. Mary Lou Hundt, regularly a girls physical education teacher, took over as the tankers diving coach. The divers on the varsity squad were seniors, Dave Zonzius and Doug Wunderle, and junior, Ray Hollenbach.

The Sophomore tankers enjoyed a successful season with an undefeated conference record. This may have been the best season for the Arlington sophomore squad.

This year Arlington, at Olympic Pool, hosted the Freshman Invitational. The invitational is sponsored each year by one of the six different schools participating in the invitational. Arlington finished in a tie for third place, sharing this title with Lyons Township. Freshman, Joe Nitch was the only individual invitational winner for the Arlington tankers. He won the 300-yard freestyle with a time of 3:13.4, a new invitational record.

Under the supervision of head coach Mr. Donald Anderson and the student co-captains seniors, Steve Jurco and Denny Stout, the entire Swim Team worked to make this year the best one in the team's record.

With the spirit that this year's Swim Team has set, the outlook for next year's tankers shows that, with any of their spirit retained from this year's team, the future Arlington tankers will be sure to attain high ratings in the district and possibly the state.

Mini-Tankers Float Their Way To The Top

Gee, the world looks funny like this, is thought of sophomore Chris Carstens as he executes his dive at the Conference meet.

As the swimming meet goes on, Coach Anderson checks scores that Sue Noerenberg, a member of Timettes, has written down.

Winter Brings In Wins

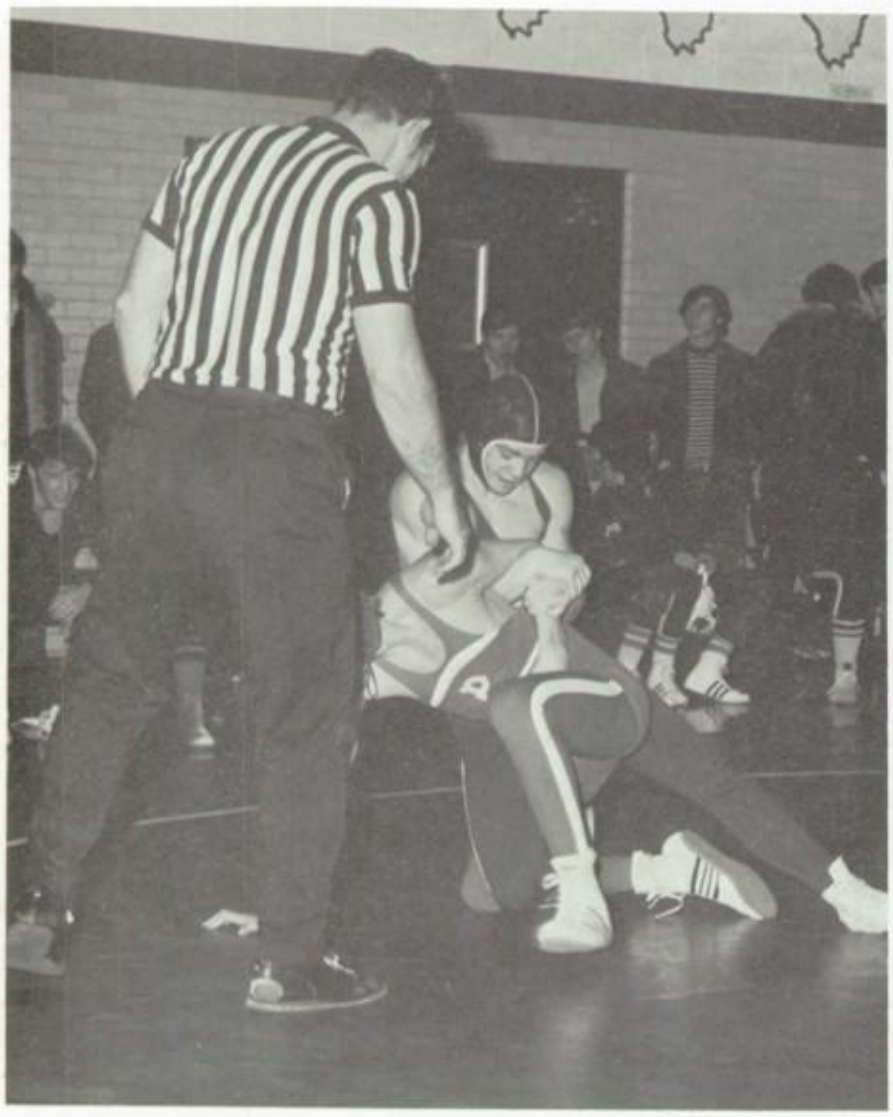
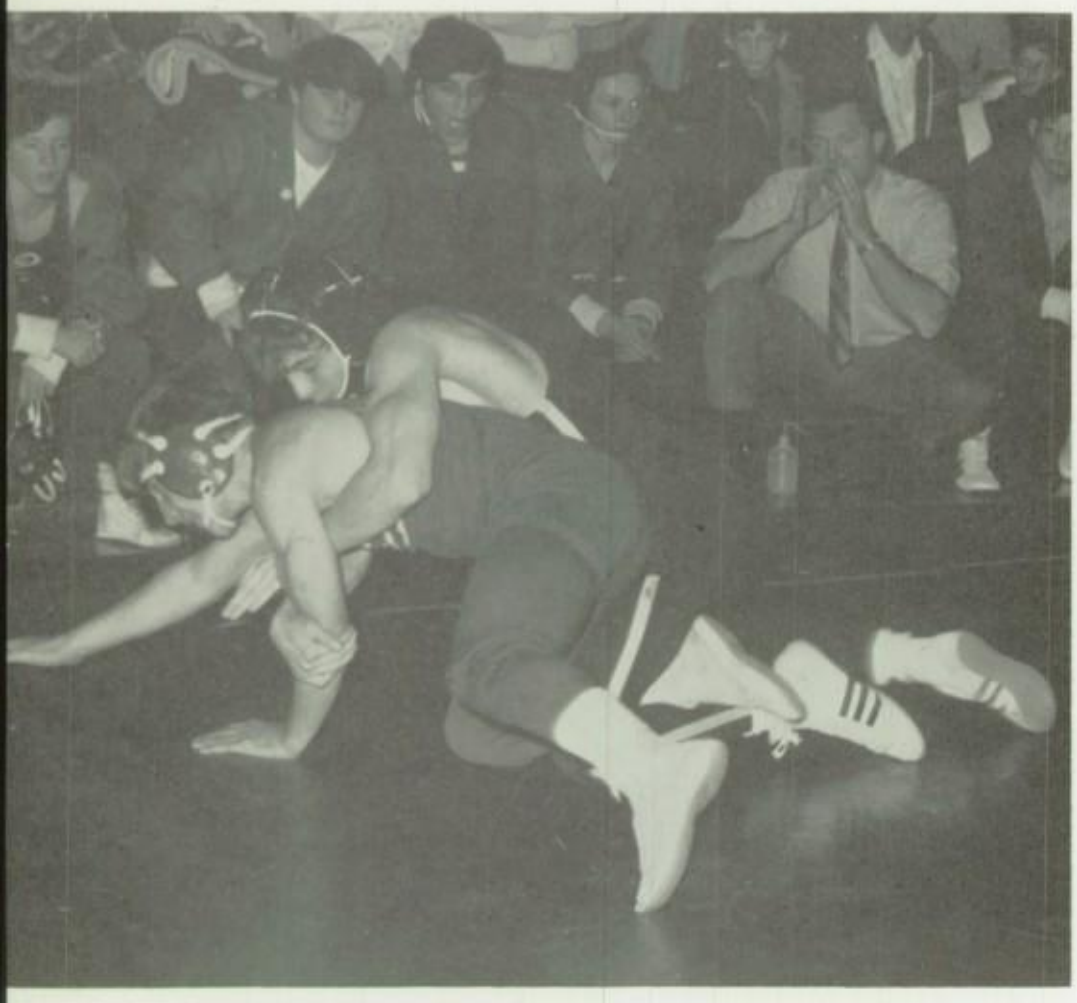
Attentively the referee watches as the two grapplers battle on. The Arlington wrestler grimaces in pain as he struggles for a victory while fans watch, hoping their man comes out on top.



Faster than a speeding bullet, a cardinal tanker strokes his way through the turbulent water of Olympic Pool as he strives for another Cardinal victory, thinking of the Wheaties he didn't eat.

Matmen Stick To The Work With Many Pins



Brent Clark an AHS sophomore grappler contemplates a Cardinal victory as he makes attempt to flatten his Pirate opponent.

Arlington grapplers wrestled their way to a winning season and offered intense competition in the mid-suburban conference. No sooner did wrestling practice start than the Redbirds faced their first match against Schaumburg. Ineligibility played an important role at Arlington, excluding several boys from wrestling for a total of five dual meets. During this time many under-classmen received vital experience on the Varsity and Junior-Varsity levels.

Varsity captains, Pete Anderson and Mark Chidley, led their teams through a grueling season even when the Cardinals met tough competition. Other standouts on Varsity included Seniors, Dean Powell, Dick Porowski, Tom Dal Compo, John Chapman and Bodo Weber. The first meet came and went as Mr. Cutlip's boys faced one of the toughest parts of the season: tournament time. All levels participated in the tournaments, including a Frosh-Soph invitational at Waukegan. The only Junior-Varsity tournament was at Highland Park. Wrestling at Arlington has a great future in both the coaching staff and the participants in the sport.

The Junior-Varsity, wrestling with many underclassmen and coached by Mr. Casey, had a record of 1-12. The Sophomores, coached by Mr. Scarpino, had a record of 5-6. Freshmen had a record of 5-5.

AHS Cheerleaders Spark Spirit Into Cards

Forming a pyramid of spirit, the '72 Cheerleaders led the Arlington students in showing support for all the Cardinal teams throughout the school year. From the rhythmic "We are the Cardinals" to their unpredictable pyramid the spirit and enthusiam of the Cheerleaders stayed with the teams win or lose.

Besides creating the Cardinal hoop for the players' entrance into football and basketball games, the Cheerleaders sold Homecoming mums, spirit ribbons and buttons, and carnations on Valentine's Day.

The unusual new uniforms chosen by the Senior squad featured red and black pleats in a white skirt and a black stripe on Arlington's traditional red and white sweater.

This spirited group sponsored by Miss Mary Welpton consists of twenty members. The squads were led by Varsity captain Beth Oestmann, JV captain Sandy Gabler.

Fifteen baton twirling beauties, under the direction of Cardette Captain Chris Losos and Co-Captain Barb Conti, charmed their way into the hearts of Arlington fans again this year.

Some changes took place this year when Cardettes replaced their old uniforms and got new ones in fashion with the hot pants trend. They also used more contemporary music for their half-time shows such as "Make Me Smile" and "25 or 6 to 4."

Timettes splashed into action this year with their Senior Captain Anne Woods, and their three senior Co-Captains Pam Miller, Pam Johnson, and Andrea Polites. Timettes is a group of girls which aid the swimming team primarily in timing and scoring. They also had a bake sale to raise money. There are fifty members in Timettes and two advisors, Mr. Don Anderson and Mr. John Gardner.

AHS Dames and Prowess Reveal Much Ability

Competitive spirit and an enthusiasm for sports were a few of the characteristics of the Girls Athletic Association. The girls, under President Barbara Wray, Vice President Nancy Stepp, and Secretary Claire Gates, participated in such sports as tennis, archery, badminton, bowling, volleyball, and softball. Besides competition in these sports, G.A.A. also held a winter banquet and a spring picnic. Mrs. Katherine Gilleland and Miss Mary Ann Welpton sponsored the group.

Senior Leaders proved again to be a great asset to the girls physical education department. Clad in their new blue uniforms, they assisted in the instruction of P.E. classes by refereeing games, taking attendance, and demonstrating basic skills. The seniors started the required training in their junior year. By assisting in the P. E. Classes, the girls greatly helped the students and teachers.

Memoriam

TIME

The rock rests, silent and motionless, to our eyes.

Our lifetime is a mere hundred years.

We think and talk and move and love within the boundaries of birth and death.

The rock,

born a million years ago,

has yet another million years to live.

Perhaps it, too, thinks and talks and moves and loves

but so very slowly,

that we can say, "It is not a living thing,"

Marcia Tindall

Heights supervisor, Mr. Robert Boesel helps two of his editors, Pam Miller and Pam Burkhardt, prepare for the distribution of the 1972 yearbook. Il est fini!!

Out of Sight Are Words For People And Life

Another year has come to an end — and another yearbook has come out! — People and Life have many changes; and we, the editors, have many people to thank for their time and devotion.

Sincere thanks goes to Mr. Robert Boesel for his support and guidance. — A special thank-you is extended to Capri Studio for our picture supply; Mr. Norman Semmelroth for engraving; and Mr. David L. McConnell for printing.

Thank-you is extended to Chris Tennant and Dave Schlott for many pictures; and our special appreciation goes to Tom Johnstin and Rick Sunquist for helping.

Mr. Robert Boesel ..... Sponsor
Pam Burkhardt ..... Copy Editor
Pam Miller ..... Picture Editor
Andrea Polites ..... Layout Editor

Thanks also goes to On People and Life by Helen Keller, published by Doubleday & Company for their permission to use the poem.
